DOG MAN'S PACK IS LOOSE

Greet Newsmen With Eager Teeth Then Turn To Fight Each Other

By DAVE STOCK

Frederick G. Smith, Saanich's dog man, has a new pack. The 72-year-old Imperial army pensioner who is hauled into court regularly for keeping unlicensed canines, has another date with the magistrate Thursday to explain his latest collection.

But this office couldn't wait 'til Thursday. No, the deskmen here wanted to know about Smith's dogs today. So they sent a photographer and this reporter to go and see the dogs this morning.

We saw the dogs all right. And they saw us. The very first one to come bounding through the door in answer to my knock was certainly excited. She bit me. She got free while Smith was trying to back out the door and shut the rest of the pack inside. The dog sank its teeth into my ankle and held on grimly despite my efforts to shake her loose.

Smith explained it was just unfortunate that the one that got loose was "the bad one."

"I may have to shoot that one," he said.

When Smith let the rest of the pack out they behaved somewhat better than the first. Instead of me, they chewed one another.

Smith told me he thought he had "seven or eight" dogs at the moment. There were nine jumping around when he said it.

In the past, Smith has been given ample opportunity by the magistrate to dispose of his canine friends, and the court has always treated him leniently.

The last time Smith was in court, however, he was warned that his persistence in gathering dogs was trying the court's patience.

"I've nothing to say," Dr. J. D. Hunter said. "I haven't had time to consider the matter."

Briefly, this is Harrison's offer:

1. Each mayoralty candidate must execute a deed assigning all his pay to a trustee.

2. Each of three candidates—Harrison, Dr. Hunter and Kent—would put up $1,000 of his own money, also to be paid to the trustee.

3. Each candidate must announce that, if elected, he will make a bona fide effort for recognition of the terms of union relating to the steamship service between Victoria, San Francisco and Olympia. Thereafter, he would receive half his salary as mayor; but the trustee would retain the other half.

4. If successful in obtaining the federal government's compliance with the terms, or securing compensation in cash in lieu of the steamship service, then all the funds held by the trustee would be paid to the mayor.

5. In the event of failure, the $1,000 each man paid into the fund would be returned to him, but the trustee would retain the balance of the mayor's salary and pay it into general city funds.

6. The offer is to be accepted now and the cash paid to a trustee by 3 o'clock today.

Mayoralty candidate Harry Haigh was not included in the challenge because he had not had the same opportunity to study the terms of union, Harrison said.

Kent had something more to say.

"I can't see the Dominion government going back to the time when terms of union were drawn and then re-opening an issue that old. At that time practically the only means of communication was by steamship line."

"I don't feel the offer has sufficient merit to be logically considered."

Operators and union representatives were reported unofficially today to be close to ending British Columbia's beer drought.

Hopes for an early settlement of the strike of 431 brewery workers—which started its seventh week today—bubbled following negotiations at Vancouver Tuesday night presided over by the provincial Labor Relations Board.

Another negotiating conference was called for tonight, and some sources said there was a good chance that beer may be flowing again by Saturday.

Beer parlors began to close a few days after the strike started Oct. 23, throwing an estimated 1,500 beer parlor employees out of work.

The International Union of Brewery and Distillery Workers (C.C.L.) called the strike at four breweries in Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster after the companies rejected demands for a 35-cent hourly increase over the current basic wage of $1.31. The breweries offered 25 cents.

The meeting Tuesday night followed a union request to Labor Minister John Cates for mediation in the strike. The only official word following the 1 1/2-hour meeting was a joint announcement that "negotiations are proceeding."

The star is 31 Cygni, a double star in the constellation known as the Swan.

It has been accurately measured because of an eclipse on a grand scale which took 63 days to complete. In this eclipse the largest of the two stars blotted out the smaller one for this period.

Dr. R. M. Petrie, the observatory director, describes it as a "very interesting and important phenomenon of the heavens."

Neutral Nations Chosen

Reds Advance Step In Cease-Fire Talks

PANMUNJON, Korea, Dec. 5 (UP).—The Communists suggested two Communist and two non-Communist "neutral" countries today to supply "neutral observers" for a Korean armistice.

Red representatives told U.N. delegates in a subcommittee meeting that observers from Sweden, Switzerland and Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia would be acceptable to them.

The Communists said there would be "no boss" of the inspection group "except the terms of the armistice itself." U.N. briefing officer Lt. Col. Howard S. Levie reported.

FEW RED ANSWERS

The naming by the Communists of four nations acceptable to them as "neutrals" was one of the few positive developments in a day of many U.N. questions and few Communist answers.

The Communists had suggested that observers from neutral states visit "ports of entry" behind both lines to see that neither side brought in fresh troops or supplies during an armistice.

Until today, however, the Reds had refused to name the countries they considered "neutral" and thereby eligible to supply observers. There seemed some question whether the U.N. would accept their Communist Poland or Czechoslovakia as truly "neutral" in the Korean war.

The Communists still refused to clarify what they mean by "ports of entry"—whether these would include airports and North Korea's rail crossings into Manchuria and Siberia in addition to North Korean seaports.

They also proved slippery on other technical questions about their keep-the-truce program. The Communist tactics led the "Voice of the U.N. Command" radio to accuse the Reds of using double-talk in an attempt to belude the real issues at Panmunjon.

Plans To Deny Half Million Tax Racket

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 (UP).—Frank Nathan, a fast man with a buck and good friend of T. Lamar Cauley, planned to deny under oath today that he tried a $500,000 tax shakedown on the one-time attorney for Scarface Al Capone.

Nathan's attorney, Loring Black, said House investigators would be told that the shakedown charge made by Chicago lawyer Abraham Teitelbaum was not true.

Nathan was slated to be the first witness at today's session of the House ways and means subcommittee investigating tax scandals. He testified for an hour Tuesday night, but was not asked about Teitelbaum's sworn statements on the alleged shakedown.

Teitelbaum testified that Nathan, former Pittsburgh promoter who now divides his time between Washington, New York and Miami, and Bert K. Naster, Hollywood, Fla., tried to persuade him to give them $500,000 to "fix" an income tax case pending against him.

VOLCANO GIVES UP REPORTED 500 DEAD

Philippine Governor Estimates That 2,000 May Have Perished In Hibok Hibok Eruption

MANILA, Dec. 5 (AP).—The Philippine News Service said tonight more than 500 bodies have been recovered from the ash-strewn slopes of Hibok Hibok volcano on Camiguin Island in the southern Philippines.

The volcano erupted twice Tuesday. It still spouted smoke and flames today.

Governor Paciano Ysalina of eastern Misamis province estimated that 2,000 may have died in Tuesday's first eruption.

Neither the governor's estimate nor the news service's figure had confirmation. Red Cross headquarters in Manila said the Philippines army had recovered 169 bodies.

Volcanic heat began subsiding and rescue workers were able to penetrate deeper into the ash and lava area.

The news service said 10,000 of Camiguin's 45,000 residents had been evacuated to safer areas.

Police and volunteers stood guard in the hard-hit area to maintain order and prevent looting.

Manila Times correspondent Benigno Aquino quoted Philippine Air Force Captain Pedro Los Banos that smoke was still rising from fissures and grey soil in a nine-square-mile area on the volcano slopes.

"Coconut trees still are neatly spaced in the area," the officer was quoted, "but denuded of fruit and leaves."

Hibok Hibok's crater was still invisible later Wednesday, shrouded by low, dense clouds of smoke.

The volcano issued a second mighty blast Monday night, about 10 hours after the first blow-off.

Flames and dense smoke still are pouring from the crater, the Philippines army commander in the Mindanao area reported after a flight over the island.

A steady stream of evacuees fled in all types of watercraft to Mindanao and other nearby islands.

Ten villages on the island were believed destroyed.

Two U.S. air force planes left Sangley Point naval base near Manila this morning for the stricken area. They carried Philippine Red Cross workers, blood plasma and other supplies.

Attending the meeting were acting minister of war and marine Abel Fattah Hassan Pasha and the commander of the armed forces, Gen. Mohamed Haidar Pasha.

The interior ministry Tuesday night said 15 Egyptians were killed and 29 others wounded Tuesday in a clash between British armored column and Egyptian police and civilians on the outskirts of Suez.

The ministry revised earlier casualty figures for gun battles in the same area Monday, listing 28 Egyptians killed and 58 wounded.

Unconfirmed reports listed British casualties in Tuesday's fighting as one officer and one enlisted man wounded.

Tense Atmosphere As Rioting Sees 170 Killed Or Wounded

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 5 (UP).—The Egyptian government has ordered police to "shoot on sight" any British army vehicle which tries to enter Suez in the canal zone, press reports said today.

The report came in an atmosphere tense after two days of British-Egyptian gun battles and riots here and elsewhere in which more than 170 persons were killed or injured.

Press reports said that Egyptian authorities at Suez warned the British command that any British vehicle or soldier that entered the city would "inevitably be fired upon."

Egyptian authorities have rejected British requests to enter the town and every policeman has been given 300 rounds of ammunition in event of a new clash, the press reports said.

Rioting by Egyptians in Cairo broke out again today. A police charge in the Sayeda Teinab quarter dispersed 3,000 students and workers who had staged an anti-British demonstration. The rioters charged the police as they stood, swinging their staves freely.

Workers in the Boulac section of Cairo also clashed with police and attacked a Coca Cola truck. Cases and bottles were smashed and strewn along the Fuad El-Awal road following the fight. Strong reinforcements rushed into the workers' residential area broke up the riot.

Police headquarters said several policemen were injured by stones which 1,000 rioters threw in the Boulac clash. The police dispersed the rioters by firing rifle volleys over their heads.

In Alexandria 2,000 students and workers demonstrated throughout the port city. They shouted anti-British, anti-government slogans and demanded "arms" and "revenge."

Many shops were closed. Traffic was diverted from streets on which British and other consulates were located. Strong guards were put around the foreign buildings.

SCHOOLS ON STRIKE
All schools through Egypt went on strike today as an anti-British protest.

A national state of emergency, declared Tuesday, was prolonged today in an attempt to prevent further demonstrations.

All police leaves were canceled by the interior ministry. Strong guards were posted around public buildings, bridges and other strategic points in the capital.

Guards also were placed along the approaches to the garden city quarter of Cairo, where most of the foreign embassies and legations are situated.

Top Egyptian political and military leaders conferred Tuesday night over the rapidly worsening situation in Suez. The conference was under the presidency of Interior Minister Fud Serag El Din Pasha, general secretary of the ruling W.A.F.D. party and Premier Mustapha Nahas, Pasha's right-hand man.

Attending the meeting were acting minister of war and marine Abel Fattah Hassan Pasha and the commander of the armed forces, Gen. Mohamed Haidar Pasha.

Insurance 'New Deal' Wins 2,000

The new deal offered hospital insurance delinquents and non-registrants resulted in only another 2,000 persons being brought into the scheme.

Health and Welfare Minister A. D. Turnbull said today 862 persons registered. Figuring that each registrant represents 2.25 persons, the plan attracted a total of 2,000 persons.

There are still 50,000 British Columbians not registered, but half of these come under the category of "not able to pay."

The offer, a recommendation of the hospital insurance inquiry board, enabled a delinquent to become eligible for coverage after paying one full year's premiums and agreeing to pay arrears in installments over a specified period.

The results of the plan will bring in about $100,000 in revenue to the B.C.H.I.S. coffers. Sum of $34,000 was received in actual cash and from persons taking advantage of the offer. Payment of their arrears will bring the total to $100,000.

The Vancouver office attracted the largest number of delinquents (or non-registrants)—521. Total of 66 went to the New Westminster office, 60 to Victoria, and 215 through the central office from the rest of the province.

Way Is Open For Buttle Dam Appeal

The provincial government Tuesday served notice of an appeal against the decision to dam Buttle Lake.

E. H. Tredcroft, water rights commissioner, was given notice, Education Minister W. T. Straith, acting attorney-general, said today.

The comptroller is expected to turn the appeal over to Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney on his return from the interior of the province at the end of the week. Kenney will set the date and location for the hearings.

The government appealed the decision only to allow the conservationists and others to be heard further. If the government had not taken this action, the Water Act would have prevented most of the conservationists from being heard.

Stepinac had been held in Lepoglava prison near Zagreb for five years on charges of collaboration with the Axis powers.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 5 (CP).—Three more Trans-Canada Air Lines pilots have been suspended in the dispute over carrying passengers in flight compartments of aircraft. A. R. Why Grow Old?	16

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

While the storm was pounding in from the southeast, a row-boat put out from Woody Bay. The crowd at the corner store wondered about it. On the waterfront, it's everybody's business when a small boat is out in the salt chuck in weather like that.

Usually you keep your skiff well up the bank when the wind's whistling the song of the gale and ripping the crests off the cold green waves. You only go out if somebody's in trouble and needs a hand. That's why the crowd at the store was talking about the boat in the storm.

Stott

Nobody was in difficulty in the water at that time. Young Donny just thought it would be a good idea to ride the waves. As far as the store people were concerned, young Donny was a crazy kid. They said so. But they said it without much conviction, seeming to marvel a bit that a boy would want to take chances like seas like that, and hiding a grudging admiration of his ability to handle his boat in the storm.

If you've been a kid on the beach and owned your own row-boat, you're not too critical of Donny. When you're older, you appreciate more fully the risks. You haven't the same inclination to see if you can beat the storm. Caution dulls the razor's edge of the excitement you might get from bucking into it in a small craft. But you don't forget that keen zest for living, that elemental surge of triumph, you knew when you were a youngster and acted exactly as Donny did.

Crazy As Mountaineering

Sure, it's crazy to flirt with danger in a rowboat during a southeast gale. There isn't any sense to it at all. It's just about as foolish as climbing up the face of a mountain, where one slip would remove all worry of income tax or rising prices.

Yet grown men, and intelligent men, climb mountains. And they make a point of it. They don't want to plod up some gradual slope, which anybody reasonably sound in mind and limb can scale. They want to do it the hard way.

If you had read "The White Tower" or any of the books on Everest, you might come to the conclusion that mountain climbing is the one great, legal invitation to suicide civilized man enjoys. So why do men do it?

Maybe because it creates a refined appetite for life. Just living seems a bit sweeter when there's a chance that it may stop suddenly. But there's something more to it than that.

Perhaps psychologists could explain the appeal of danger and the sharp, intoxicating sensation of going up a cliff face where life hangs on fingertips and toeholds.

It's the same with a small boat in a storm. Out in the gale there's just you, your oars and a few strips of thin plank cunningly contrived, to seaworthiness, against the elements. It's a physical struggle, and there's quick terror in you when the waves start leaping to engulf your boat.

Fear And Exultation

Out of that terror springs a wild exultation as you ride another crest, sliding down into another trough, seeing the dark green, plunging water surround you. A great, heathen strength swells in you. For a while you're a Viking.

You find yourself on the raw edge of fear, angling up a wave that comes smashing toward you, curling at the top, threatening, under the screaming shout of the wind, to swallow you. Your boat labors as you heave it around into the quarter, trying to prove to yourself that your skill, that co-ordination between you, your oars and the almost living counterpart of you, your skiff, can master the gale.

Out there you're tearing away the respectable, comfortable covering of civilization. You're stripping off the cocoon you've inherited from centuries of restrained living and you are baring the quick pulse of living itself.

You think of that as you listen to the talk in the corner store. Like the other adults there, you wish the youngster wouldn't take such foolish chances, but you understand why he does. And you know, too, that he's becoming a better boatman in the process—just so long as he makes shore again after his ride.

Population Speech Can Be Repeated, Says Drew

OTTAWA, Dec. 5 (BUP).—Opposition Leader George Drew said he was ready to go into any part of Quebec today and repeat a Vancouver speech in which he said Canada could well support a population of 100,000,000.

The Progressive Conservative national party leader picked up a challenge by a French-language newspaper (Le Canada) which said he would not make the speech in Quebec because he wanted to win the support of Quebec voters.

The paper said that Drew's dream of 100,000,000 Canadians would leave Quebec's French-speaking population—now one-third of Canada's 14,000,000—as an ineffective minority. Drew denied the suggestion in the Commons Monday night.

"In this enormous country, the third largest in the world—exceeded in size only by Russia with 200,000,000 people and China with 450,000,000—we have 14,000,000 people," Drew observed. "Yet there are those who use that ugly word 'optimum' and say that the optimum population of Canada is somewhere in the neighborhood of 20,000,000."

"That is strictly nonsense," Drew said.

"Even today we can feed 100,000,000 people with what we are able to produce from our soil, and we could exceed that greatly if with a larger population, more intense agricultural methods became profitable and were employed."

Drew said that when he spoke of a Canadian population of over 100,000,000 he did not mean that great movements of immigrants should be brought to Canada.

St. Laurent In Appeal For Youths To Join Up

OTTAWA, Dec. 5 (BUP).—Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent called for a steady flow of volunteers to the armed services after telling the nation Tuesday night that right had to be backed up with might under present world conditions.

The Prime Minister spoke on a coast-to-coast Canadian Broadcasting Corporation hookup in "The Nation's Business" program.

"I am one of those who still dare to hope that Providence will spare our generation the scourge of another world war," Mr. St. Laurent said.

Nevertheless, he added, it was "not enough to have right on our side—it was just as important to have the strength to defend the right."

MUST MUSTER STRENGTH

The Canadian people, and other nations of the North Atlantic treaty, will be able to muster the strength to defend the right by combining their resources, he said. "If we muster that strength we will not have to use it in another world war," he said.

In building up the strength to prevent aggression and ensure the peace, there is a duty for everyone," he said. "It is not something we can leave to the other fellow."

"We need a steady flow of young men for the highest service of all—whether it be on the battlefields of Korea, on the ramparts of freedom in Europe, or in our own northland."

"But we cannot all serve in the armed forces. Those of us who remain in civil life have a responsibility to lend all the support we can to the armed forces who are serving for our safety."

The Prime Minister urged Canadians to provide and pay for our effort to prevent war by doing "without some of the things we would like to have."

ARE RESPONDING

"We are going through dangerous times and Canadians have never shirked duties and obligations for the security and freedom of their country in times of peril," the Prime Minister said.

The government had levied higher taxes to pay for national security, he said, and was "asking you to do whatever you can to increase production, and save as much as you can in order to help fight inflation."

"From the evidence I have," Mr. St. Laurent said, "Canadians are responding to those appeals."

WHY BLAME ME?

BECAUSE you are actually the person who sets the price you pay for automobile insurance...that is, you and every other driver in your area.

There is neither mystery nor magic in the setting of automobile insurance costs. These costs are based on the amount paid out in claims in the different rating areas across the country.

If, during any period, losses are lighter than the earlier period on which the rates were based, your costs will go down. If accidents occur more frequently and bring about heavier losses, damages awarded become larger (as they have progressively done), then your costs must go up.

Every attempt is made as far as practicable to reward the good risk and penalize the poor one. That is why drivers under 25 are charged so much more for their automobile insurance. On the average about 14% of the people who drive motor cars are in this young age group...but they are involved in 28% of all fatal accidents.

Automobile insurance premiums are, in general, considerably higher now than they were a few years ago. That is because accidents are far more numerous these days—and each accident tends to be more costly. That means more and more money paid out in claims.

When the cost of accident claims goes down—through more careful driving—automobile insurance costs will go down and you will profit.

Remember too, when you drive carefully, you save more than money—you save lives. And the life you save may be your own.

HANDSOME—Here is Montreal's Leo Real Bertrand, 37-year-old psychiatrist by night, cleaning plant employee by day, who has been charged with the murder of his 55-year-old wife of two months. The handsome doctor, who will inherit property worth $35,000 from the terms of his wife's will, was found criminally responsible for the death of his bride in a gasoline lamp explosion which burned down a cabin at remote Lac Ste. Marie, 62 miles north of Ottawa, where the couple had gone for a belated honeymoon.

UNDECIDED—In Torrance, Calif., pretty Martha Morris Devigier, the 16-year-old "Cinderella bride" who left her wealthy Swiss husband after only three weeks of married life, returned home today to her mother "and her school books."

The pert bobbysoxer stepped from a plane at International Airport early this morning, accompanied by her father and her husband's brother-in-law. "I'm still undecided," was her only remark when asked by reporters about the break-up of her marriage to the Swiss industrialist, Roland Devigier, 28. She refused to say why she decided to file a separate maintenance suit.

HOPEFUL—Four American airmen held in Hungary may be freed as soon as they have served their purpose as Communist propaganda, U.S. officials in Washington said today.

The four men were arrested when Russian fighters forced down their C-47 transport plane Nov. 19, after they got lost over Hungary. The Kremlin has tried to use the incident to support charges in the United Nations that the United States has earmarked $100,000,000 in foreign aid to stir up rebellion behind the Iron Curtain.

LEADER—In Oakland, Calif., Leo Whaley, 15, is telling police that he was the leader of two juvenile gangs after being caught in the act of burgling a policeman's home. The policeman arrived home to find the youth hiding "very frightened" in the bathroom. Leo's legs were crippled in an auto accident when he was four years old.

U.N. Jets Win Dogfight With Five Reds Downed

U.S. FIFTH AIR FORCE, Korea, Dec. 5 (AP)—United Nations jet pilots today blasted five Communist Mig jets out of the skies and damaged five more, the Fifth Air Force announced.

The air force said no allied jets were damaged.

This was the 10th consecutive day of jet warfare over northwestern Korea.

In the 10 days allied jet pilots have shot down a reported total of 32 Red planes, probably shot down another and damaged 31. Announced allied losses are six jets.

A-Bomb Race Can Be Halted Says Writer

Two hundred qualified inspectors stationed at known world centres of uranium production could stop the A-bomb race tomorrow, claims George W. Herald in the current issue of U.N. World Magazine.

The plan, suggested recently by U.S. geologists and engineers, would probably be accepted by the Russians, Herald says, both because it involves so few men and because no attempt would be made to survey Russia as a whole.

Tuesday in a press conference at Paris, where he is attending the General Assembly of the U.N., Russian Foreign Minister Vishinsky said Russia would permit inspection of her atomic plants if the principle of outlawing all atomic weapons was accepted.

Geologists with whom Herald talked labelled the present U.N. plan for surveying Russian uranium and thorium deposits from the air "amateurish." Their reasons: there is no sure way of spotting such deposits from the air, the survey would cover large parts of Russia in which it is known that no such deposits exist, and geologists already do know the parts of Russia where the deposits probably exist.

The scientists' plan provides for each country to retain ownership of its own fissionable material and reactors. Then each country would pledge to furnish the U.N. a certain percentage of its yearly uranium or thorium output—and the inspectors would see to it that the pledges were kept. The U.N. would use this stockpile for the benefit of underprivileged areas.

230 Mig-15 jets into the air today, again far outnumbering American planes sweeping northwestern Korea.

The big bag of Red jets was scored in a fight between 22 F-86 Sabre jets and 80 Migs. They battled 35 minutes, equaling the longest jet battle in history.

The Sabre pilots sent five Red airmen spiralling to earth, damaged one Mig and escaped unscathed.

F-84 Thunderjet pilots damaged three other Migs in an afternoon fight. An F-80 Shooting Star, America's slowest jet in Korea, accounted for the fifth Mig damaged.

Meanwhile, an allied raiding party stormed ashore deep behind Red lines on the east coast Monday in the second hit-and-run raid in two nights.

Black-faced United States Marines and British Commandos scaled a cliff and attacked a vital Communist rail line south of Songjin, about 185 miles north of the 38th Parallel.

Shells from the U.S. destroyer Tingey pounded the rail line farther north.

Allied naval headquarters in Korea said the night raiders left an unknown number of Communist dead. The allies suffered only two casualties.

Big Gambling Trial Resumes In Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Dec. 5 (UP)—The big bookie trial resumed here today, heading into the home stretch of a record-breaking run.

The preliminary hearing for 34 persons charged with conspiracy to operate a multi-million dollar horse race bookmaking ring in the city already ranks as the "biggest" case ever handled in Vancouver police court.

The first eight days put more than 180,000 words of testimony on the record. So bulky and expensive is the trial transcript already that only two of eight defense lawyers in the case have ordered copies. Its 600-plus pages will cost more than $500.

The preliminary hearing is expected to last three days more. The interval between recess last Friday and the reopening of the case today was highlighted by the pistol-whipping of the central figure in the case, E. Massie White, operator of a service supplying horse racing information.

Facts and Legends

IN A LETTER ON THIS PAGE TODAY, Mr. Roy Brown, editor-emeritus of The Vancouver Sun, erects a series of straw men for the satisfaction of knocking them down. As this exercise concerns all the taxpayers of British Columbia, since it is full of misinformation and since it is calculated to befog important negotiations now under way between the provincial and federal governments, it deserves correction.

Mr. Brown's case, in brief, is that British Columbia somehow is in danger of signing away its taxation rights to the federal government under the existing taxation agreement. Of course it has done and is doing nothing of the sort. British Columbia can return to the collection of corporation and personal income taxes as soon as the present agreement expires next spring. The federal government has no power to prevent it doing so.

Mr. Brown then says that British Columbia entered the taxation agreement on the understanding that, at the end of it, "taxing privileges would be restored on a basis of 'as you were.'" But by a slip of the draughtsman's pen, he says, this assurance is not contained in the latest draft of the agreement.

If Mr. Brown uses the phrase "as you were" to mean that the province must have the right to return to its old income and corporation taxes no guarantee is necessary. That is a constitutional right which can be exercised as soon as the agreement expires.

If he means, as he seems to mean, that the federal government guaranteed by implication in the first wartime agreement that later on it would reduce its income and corporation taxes to the pre-war level, then Mr. Brown is quite wrong. No such undertaking was ever given and none could be given.

Is it suggested that the federal government could reduce its taxes to the pre-war level and carry the present war debt and the present four-billion-dollar budget? Obviously not. The federal government may reduce taxes from time to time. It can never hope to return to pre-war levels. The British Columbia government, constantly demanding larger federal expenditures, would be the last to suggest such a thing.

However, the federal government has agreed to facilitate any province which decides to collect its own corporation and income taxes again instead of accepting the present subsidies from Ottawa. It agrees that if British Columbia, for instance, collects a provincial personal income tax then the federal treasury will reduce the federal income tax of every British Columbian by 5 per cent. In other words, the province can collect a provincial tax equal to 5 per cent of the federal tax without increasing the burden of the taxpayer, apart from the nuisance of making out two tax forms.

In the same way, if the present tax agreement is abandoned, the federal government will reduce the present joint federal-provincial 50 per cent corporation tax by one-seventh. Thus the province can levy a corporation tax of approximately 7 per cent, instead of its present rate of 5 per cent, without increasing the load on business.

Incidentally, the fact that the provincial government already is levying a 5 per cent corporation tax (collected for convenience by the federal government), destroys at once Mr. Brown's statement that British Columbia has permanently surrendered its taxing rights to Ottawa. So does the position of Ontario and Quebec. They are not in the taxation agreement and collect their own corporation taxes and could collect an income tax of any rate whatever if they so desired. Their rights, like British Columbia's, are established by the Canadian constitution. Nothing can alter them but a constitutional amendment.

The upshot of all this is simple—there is mathematically no way in which the province can collect any more money by its own taxes than it is getting now in federal subsidies, unless it is willing to increase the total taxes of British Columbians. Any government which attempted to pile extra income taxes on the individual and corporation taxes on business would be exercising its undoubted rights, which it has never surrendered, but we imagine that this would be the last thing it would ever do before it was hurled from office.

In fact, as Mr. Brown must know, a return to a provincial income tax is politically impossible and cannot be used as a threat against the federal government to extract more out of the present tax agreement. That gun is not loaded. An increased levy on business may be politically possible. It would be unwise economically when federal taxes already are a discouragement to enterprise.

These are the facts as distinguished from the legends and rumors which have been confusing the public and which have been given wide circulation in The Vancouver Sun. One other fact should always be remembered—if the provincial government can manage to extract more federal subsidies out of a revision of the existing agreement next spring the money will not come from Santa Claus. It will come from the taxpayers of British Columbia just as if it were collected by the provincial government.

British Columbia argues that the federal government collects more money in this province than it spends here. It follows that if British Columbia secures one dollar from the federal government then the federal government, in raising this money, will collect more than a dollar in British Columbia.

The British Columbia taxpayer cannot escape any federal cost. The provincial politicians, however, can escape the odium of collecting the money if they can persuade the federal treasury to collect it for them.

Greater Victoria Growing Up

RECENTLY-ANNOUNCED CENSUS figures for municipalities of Greater Victoria have confirmed the opinion expressed when the city's own total was made public a few weeks ago. The city itself is still the numerically dominant member of the family, but Victoria alone no longer contains more residents than the other municipalities combined.

Apart entirely from the complex problems of tax redistribution of senior government, this changed condition calls for broader community thinking. If Greater Victoria is to attain the cohesion it should have, this alteration in population percentages makes imperative a re-assessment of community responsibilities in which the adjacent municipalities may be expected to assume a greater share of common burdens.

A trend toward that line of thought is already in evidence. When support for the art gallery was sought from districts outside the city proper that support was forthcoming. The project was seen as a Greater Victoria undertaking, of benefit to residents of Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt as well as to the city.

It is significant that the attitude adopted was adopted voluntarily. No compulsion was exercised.

There is a number of other instances in which the city and its Greater Victoria partners function harmoniously in co-operative efforts. The reciprocal arrangements between fire departments for stand-by service, joint use of library facilities, a co-ordinated school board, and such agencies as the Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee stand as examples of shared services, mutually advantageous.

The 1951 census figures should add emphasis to the value of such co-operation. The municipalities are growing up. The interdependence between them and the city is becoming more and more apparent. The picture of Greater Victoria as a whole, not as separate fragments, is coming into clearer focus.

Time To Think On Civic Issues

UNQUESTIONABLY THERE IS SOME value in a spectacular civic election campaign. Extravagant statements and sensational pledges create public interest. It might even be argued that huffoonery has its merits if it helps to draw attention to the fact that citizens have the right and the responsibility to select the people of their choice for public office.

On the other hand, as Victoria approaches polling day, it becomes increasingly important that the voters give serious thought to the selection of the men or women whom they want to handle their affairs; and it becomes increasingly important that they separate sense from nonsense in the campaigns.

Civic business runs into millions of dollars. Those dollars are provided by the taxpayers. Every voter has a financial stake in the operations of the City Council, the Greater Victoria School Board and the police commission. That stake is not so small that choice of representatives to administer it is a matter of indifference.

Because the current election campaign, including as it does a contest among four aspirants for the mayoralty, has been entered, our citizens have had an opportunity to assess the platforms of the different candidates. It is up to them to note what has been said, to weigh the arguments of those who have spoken, to keep noting and weighing the statements that will continue until election day, and to decide for themselves who can do the best job for Victoria.

They must, too, recognize the importance of their own participation in the election. It will not be enough for them to form an intelligent opinion on the candidates, stripping away the chaff of campaign oratory and seeing the kernel of facts. They must express that opinion in the only way that counts—by voting. If they fail to mark their ballots, they need voice no complaint over the results. They, not the candidates, will have let the city down.

Cleaning U. of C.'s Slate

THE HIGHLY PUBLICIZED UNIVERSITY of California special-loyalty oath—recently required of faculty members to prove their suitability as professors and lecturers—has been abolished. Efforts to consider its re-introduction have been defeated.

A stigma has been removed from the institution and loyal Americans employed there need not resume their fight against a measure which singled them out from the rest of the nation as individuals for whom special precautions were necessary.

The end of this chapter of anti-red hysteria leaves unsolved, however, the problem that had arisen in the minds of North Americans from the Arctic to the Rio Grande: How could the risk of perjury deter a communist if he could, by signing a false declaration, gain membership on the U. of C. faculty?

The University of California is to be congratulated on its escape from an un-American and undemocratic practice.

A good slap in the face is reportedly an excellent cure for hysteria. But while the special-loyalty oath was required at the institution, the wrong people were being slapped.

LOOSE ENDS

The Last Swine

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

WRITING in the London press, Hon. Walter Elliott tells a fascinating story about the Gadarene swine.

He says that during the general rush towards the sea one lean pig suddenly halted and dug in his hooves. "I am not willing," he said, "to assume that safety and happiness necessarily lies down hill." His comrades drove past in a chorus of squeals. "Would you betray," they shouted to the rebel, "the sacred cause of Progress?" All of them were drowned in the sea, as is well known, but the rebel porker lived happily ever afterwards. That, however, is not the end of the story. Mr. Elliott does not seem to remember that the surviving swine enjoyed an active career in politics, though he was never elected.

IN THE Canadian election of 1926, when only the other politicians were concerned with the constitutional issue between Mr. Mackenzie King and the Governor-General, the rebel swine appealed to the electors on the proposition that the national economy was about to rush into the sea, where all his comrades had perished. Of course nobody in Swineland listened to him.

In the 1930 election, when the national economy was just beginning to sink beneath the waves, the rebel mounted the hustings to declare that the depression was a pretty serious business, that prosperity did not lie just around the corner and that the lifeboats might well be launched forthwith. Again nobody listened to him. His voice was drowned by the promise of Lord Bennett to cure unemployment overnight or perish in the attempt.

IT WAS Lord Bennett who perished in office. The pig survived comfortably enough in private life and often, wandering on the sea cliffs, looked down moodily into the dark waters which had closed over the nation's head. He was lonely but he was on dry land.

Again in 1935 he presented himself to the remaining voters, saying that he did not like the look of things. With Mussolini invading Ethiopia and preaching white man's civilization with tanks, airplanes and poison gas, the discredited swine declared that the world was now entering the period of great wars, unless it listened to him in the bud. As before, no one listened since Swineland was now quite confident that, with the depression lifting, it was entering a golden age. And once more the dark waters yawned in invitation and closed over an era.

FOR SOME years after that his lonely friend was engaged in war work and had no time for politics but he persisted stubbornly in his own solitary thoughts. After the war when all the world's governments were promising miracles of economics and a more abundant life for everyone, when the old descent toward the sea got under way again, led by economists who said that this time everything would be different because they had mastered at last the trick of perpetual prosperity, the pig dug in his hooves and refused to move.

In the elections of 1945 and 1949 he told the local electors that he still didn't like the look of things in the least. He didn't like the look of the Russians and he didn't like the look of the financial system either, since during the war a huge new volume of paper money had been created and might be expected shortly to rush into the market, bid up prices and hurl the economy into the abyss of inflation.

NATURALLY nobody paid any attention to him. He lost his deposit in the election and remained in private life. But he remained on land and sadly observed the head of the last economist disappear under the dark waters crying, just before it sank, that there had been some slight mistake in calculation but everything would be arranged better next time.

Today the rebel is an outcast in the society of swine. Nobody will speak to him. When he slinks down the streets his former friends whisper to one another that he was the pig who caused the catastrophe. For had he not talked about catastrophe from the beginning? Obviously, then, he must have produced it.

NO ONE, of course, will ever vote for such a swine. He is an anti-social reactionary and sometimes other swine discuss the advisability of lynching and eating him. But, alas, he is now so old and thin, his investments having shrunk in half until he lives on an inferior diet, that he is not worth eating.

So no one pays any attention to him any more as he stands meditatively on the cliffs, watches the dark waters and wonders when the latest stampede of Swineland will begin. Already, he says, he can head the distant sound of hooves approaching and he covers in his cave until they have passed.

Iron Kettles

Ottawa Journal

Perhaps it is over-simplifying a complicated process to say that iron kettles marked one of the epochal steps toward what one dubiously labels modern civilization. Probably more than 5,000 years ago iron making was accidentally discovered when a huge fire melted rock material that was filled with iron ore. Grandmother cherished her iron kettles on the woodburning range; she never believed the cold make quite so good stew and chowders in the new-fangled light-weight aluminum and copper.

Farmers had big outdoor kettles for cooking corn meal, potatoes and squash when fattening the hogs against butchering time; there were outdoor kettles for maple sugar time, soap making and other tasks. But the smaller kettles for stove use have never received much mention in spite of the dependable role they played.

Iron kettles are little used today. They are too heavy and cumbersome for this age of light-weight materials. But one imagines that just as some grandmothers still declare they can do better baking in an old-fashioned woodburning range, there are some who insist that a stew in an iron kettle setting in a cover hole over a white oak or sugar maple fire is definitely better than modern foods frightened into submission under steam pressure.

CBC CONTROL

On the contrary, the CBC programs are upholding the traditions of democracy by airing all sides rather than "undermining" them as Opposition Leader George Drew puts it (Victoria Daily Times, Nov. 20). It is this dangerous management of Mr. Drew's type that keeps the country in the backwash of dark ages thinking.

Where else will you find in Canada the dissemination of cultural values as exemplified by the CBC? Where else will you find the widespread distribution of all things pertaining to art, literature, philosophy, etc., so essential to the development of Canada so woefully behind in cultural tradition?

Not one periodical in Canada covers aesthetic and social standards as the CBC attempts to do. And not one effort Mr. Drew can put forward to stop the progress of the CBC can compensate him for fulfilling his mission, for it is a mission as dangerous as any Hitler put forward in burning books in Germany.

PRIDE OF CITY

Every day over the radio, we hear Victoria spoken of as "Canada's most beautiful city." Then we ask ourselves, "Of what does our beauty consist?" Is it in our setting, our buildings, our people? Our sunrises and sunsets, our skies? In the strait and the view of the mountains we share? Our gardens and houses, our arena? The Johnson Street bridge? Our city hall?

It could, of course, be all of these things—and more, but if we are Canada's most beautiful city, does it enhance us to proclaim it day by day?

Victoria's peculiar claim seems to lie in the misunderstanding that beauty is all on the surface. That it does not go deep into the hearts of the citizens but rests simply in the lavish surroundings of a prolific and generous natural situation.

Can we not find some other means of making ourselves and our city known to the world? Are we not a city of charm—a phrase which draws no comparisons. A phrase over which no battles are fought and from which no heartaches stem!

This gentleman, whoever he may be, seems to have received a lot of unjustified publicity. It is the privilege of your newspaper to refuse to publish discursive letters from correspondents who seek to stir up strife and discord.

Formerly so-called "experts" had free rein to say whatever they wished to say, while the amateur public must remain quiet. The change in policy by your newspaper is refreshing and welcome to us all.

Racial antagonisms should not be fostered in this day and age. The dogs of Canada are open to every race and every creed. Language is a subject for scholars, while dialects and customs are a product of locality.

If your correspondents on this subject will give their time to the study of some great work of English, including that great masterpiece, the English Bible, they may be indeed proud to be part of that great company of Englishmen, which has produced more than any other race, a heritage known throughout the world as "English literature." To speak that language with clarity and firmness, in this day and age, is to speak and declare for freedom, in an age of intolerance.

May I ask why you have suddenly stopped publishing those interesting and amusing articles and illustrations of the young reporter and his experiences with the Swami Vishvananda? So many people enjoyed reading about them each day.

And after hearing the public lecture by the Swami last week, I should like to hear more about the Yogi Brotherhood and its splendid ideals that he spoke about, if he would inform us more about it.

During these days of war, misery and death, surely we need something like this to uplift and inspire us. Surely it is a rare privilege to have a man like this in our midst today!

COUNTER STRATEGY

It has probably occurred to many of us that the Russians, past masters in the art of mental torture, are trying these demagogical means on the western nations. They have found their tactics very satisfactory so far in dealing with individuals and they are now employing them or trying to employ them in a larger field.

The most striking example of this is this absolutely inexcusable procrastination in Korea.

There is only one thing left for the west to do outside the using of the quick method of the atom bomb, a thought we all shrink from, and that is to pull down an Iron Curtain of our own, and keep the Russians in complete ignorance of our plans and movements in so far as it is possible.

We quite appreciate that this would be very difficult to carry out in democratic countries who have fought for and won freedom of speech and of the press. It would be necessary to have complete co-operation of every loyal citizen of the Western nations.

There is no doubt that the Russians look upon Korea as the testing spot for a world-wide scheme of conquest. Their insidious propaganda may also be responsible for Iran, Egypt, the Sudan, and the long-drawn-out trouble in the Malay States.

We must fight fire with fire to win back universal freedom, for we have tried every other means in our power to meet the Russians on a common ground.

NEEDS
"Ministered to my wants."—Phil. 2:25.

At Sunday School she learned a verse... But mixed her words for better or worse... Her small friends were inclined to taunt... "The Lord's my shepherd, that's all I want."... Was what she said, but teacher thought... a bit and soon her meaning caught... "It's not, in David's words," she said... "But I like Mary's way instead."... If He's our shep-herd no want we know... And God is with us where we go.

Mr. Brown Makes Reply

I CRAVE the courtesy of a brief reply to an editorial in your paper of last Saturday, in which the following is a pertinent paragraph:

"It is loosely said amongst provincial politicians that if B.C. collects its own income tax the federal government will reduce the federal income tax of British Columbians by the same amount. This is not true. The federal government has agreed to nothing of the sort."

Correct, technically, but with certain qualifications, which I think should be realized by the public.

In wartime, nothing else mattered and it was the right idea for the federal government of Canada to collect all the money possible and administer it for the national good.

But care was taken that, in the tax rental agreements, the provinces did not forever part with their inherent rights of collecting taxes. I attended several of the Ottawa conferences and recall the question was brought up several times.

The provincial argument ran like this: "We fear that by consenting to a five-year rental arrangement, the provinces will lose position. We seek to avoid falling into the clutches of the federal taxing officials, forever. When the wartime emergency is ended, we wish to resume our former rights and freedoms in the provincial taxation field."

This principle was accepted as fair and in the first agreement, expiring in 1947, is a clause implicitly acknowledging the right of the provinces to assume their taxing privileges unimpaired upon the ending of the agreement.

A continuation of this understanding was fully accepted in the negotiations for the next five years, which will end next April. The renewal of agreement was prepared at Ottawa, sent to B.C. for signature and returned signed. Not until many months had elapsed did anyone in Victoria notice that the tax restoration clause of the first agreement had been left out of the second.

In December, 1950, while Premier Johnson was ill, Finance Minister Anson went to Ottawa to participate in the first conference for the 1952 agreement (the one now coming up). He vigorously called attention to the omission of the clause to which I have referred. During a recess, the Prime Minister told him personally there appeared to be much substance to his complaint that the clause had been inadvertently omitted and so should be restored.

As it stands, the 1947-52 agreement still shows the clause missing; though the whole understanding of the conference, to my personal knowledge, always had been that at the end of the rental period, taxing privileges would be restored on a basis of "as you were."

All this was fully set out in the B.C. budget speech of last March. The Times could look up its official statement with profit to its readers.

Where does the Times stand when it says "the federal government has agreed to nothing of the sort?"

Does the Times say that B.C. has lost forever its individual taxing rights? Does it wish B.C. to perpetually remain a vassal of Ottawa in the chief taxing fields to which in former years we were entitled?

ROY BROWN.

Self-Interest

Christian Science Monitor

Today it is in America's very hard-headed interest to keep Great Britain alive and in business. The benefits of the creditor relationship are not all measurable in dollars and pounds. Mr. Churchill has mentioned American air bases in East Anglia. One might note also vital resources of tin and rubber in British Malaya.

A good test for any request that may come from Great Britain or other Atlantic Pact allies of the United States for economic assistance will be the cold test of enlightened self-interest. That kind of self-interest shares in maintaining the welfare of the community of which it is a part.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

"FOLKS," said the Elevator Man, "are beginning to wonder these days if anything is really what it seems to be. So many things—and people—that appear to be on the up-and-up turn out to be upside down. No wonder the little man in every country is becoming confused. No wonder the nerve doctors are having a boom and the rest homes are increasing their populations all the time. I remember once reading about an experiment where they gave a mouse a nervous collapse by fooling it. They'd teach it to expect food behind a door of wire cage. They'd teach it to open the door by jumping against it. Then every once in a while they'd jam the door. The proper action by the mouse got no reaction from the door. He couldn't tell when it would open and when it wouldn't. His world got to be pretty much what ours is and his mind broke under the strain. Going down!"

"Well," said the Elevator Man, "I guess most of us are lucky to survive. Man or mouse, you can still crack up. For weeks you read of a brilliant naval doctor. Suddenly he turns out not to be one. You read detailed stories about an American hillbilly who came down out of the mountains, educated by reading 200 books his pappy gave him, and wanting to join the U.S. army. A week or two later you find out he's really a Canadian forest ranger from Ontario. Sometimes the door opens, sometimes it doesn't. What are we going to believe? Lower main!"

"Are you sure," said the Elevator Man, "a house has a television set when you see it has an aerial? Can you depend on a family having a car because they've built a garage? The signs don't mean anything these days, and even the very young are affected, like the little girl whose family bought a new piano. She was disappointed because they couldn't put anything on the roof to show they had it. Even peace and war don't mean what they seem to these days. But I guess there's still hope if you can believe what you say, even if you can't believe what you hear."

12,000 Dutch Coming
OTTAWA, Dec. 5 (CP)—A new movement of 12,000 immigrants from the Netherlands will come to Canada next year and about 5,000 of them will be farm workers.

This was disclosed at the ninth annual federal-provincial farm labor conference. The conference concluded that immigration would play a major role in maintaining a supply of manpower for Canadian agriculture.

St. Lawrence Seaway Job Gets All-Party Approval

OTTAWA, Dec. 5 (CP)—Canada's decision to launch the St. Lawrence seaway project alone has the backing of all parties in the Commons.

But opposition support for the huge undertaking was qualified generally by demands that the expanded navigation-power facilities be used in the development of Canadian natural resources.

This view was emphasized by the main spokesman for all three of the opposition parties after Transport Minister Chevrier had touched off a major seaway debate Monday by moving a resolution for setting up a "seaway authority" that would build and operate the $300,000,000 navigation phase of the project.

The minister's move, still under debate when the Commons adjourned Monday night, was the first legislative step towards implementing the government's decision to go ahead with the seaway without Washington's financial help.

The new "authority" would have power to build and operate a deep-draft navigation channel between Montreal and Lake Erie on its own, or to work with a United States agency if the U.S. Congress decided to get in on a joint scheme before Canada has launched it.

Concurrently, the Commons also has before it for ratification an agreement between the federal government and the Ontario government to enable the province to undertake the $200,000,000 Canadian end of a hydro-power development in the international section of the river.

The transport minister told the House that, while Canada would prefer a joint development, she is ready and able to do the job alone. He called the project important for Canada's economy and urgent for North American defense.

Mr. Chevrier said the all-Canadian project will be launched unless Congress acts "at an early date" to implement a 1941 Canada-U.S. treaty for a joint project. He did not name a specific deadline, but government informants say early 1952 is regarded as the target time.

After that, it would be a matter of months — perhaps more than a year — before the necessary legal preliminaries could be cleared out of the way to permit construction. From the start of work, the construction time is estimated at four years for the 2,200,000-horsepower hydro job and six years for the shipping facilities.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, agreed Monday the seaway was a necessary undertaking, but was critical of the government for what he termed delay in getting it started and for not pressing hard enough to get the United States in on a joint plan.

He took issue, too, with a suggestion by the minister that one of the big benefits would be in developing Quebec-Labrador iron-ore resources by sending ore up-river to steel mills, the largest in the United States.

Mr. Drew, who opposed the Canadian raw materials should be processed in Canada, and he urged too that the seaway be accompanied by the development of natural resources in other sections of the country such as the Maritimes, the Northwest and the Pacific Coast.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, agreed these natural resources should be developed along with the river. He said, too, it would be regrettable if iron ore going up the seaway were used to expand the steel industries of the United States instead of Canadian industry.

For the Social Credit party, John Blackmore (Lethbridge), said it would support the seaway. But he hoped other provinces besides Ontario and Quebec would benefit. He questioned whether it would work out well for the Maritimes.

The one Maritime member who spoke in the first day's debate—Claire Gillis (C.C.F., Cape Breton South), said many in his home province of Nova Scotia are unalterably opposed to the seaway. He was convinced that the seaway would wipe out any chance of expanding the steel industry on the Atlantic seaboard.

One of Canada's three primary steel plants is in Sydney, the chief community in Mr. Gillis' riding.

NO LONGER SECRET

Big Four Brief Press On Disarmament Talks

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

PARIS, Dec. 5 (CP)—The secret Big Four disarmament talks are not so secret anymore.

Before they started Saturday, United Nations officials said they would be secret to avoid propaganda barrages and possibly to help any East-West agreement.

But in three days of meetings there have been briefings by western spokesmen, by chairman Luis Padilla Nervo of Mexico and by Andre Vishinsky of Russia.

Correspondents asking whether any set policy had been established by the Big Four have been told that each reserves the right to brief after the meetings.

Vishinsky pulled the most unconventional briefing Tuesday night with a statement to more than 100 reporters pressing in a tight circle in a small corridor outside the talks room.

Philip Jessup of the United States and Jules Moch of France came out after Vishinsky started talking to reporters and pushed along the wall to get around. But Britain's Selwyn Lloyd stood on the edge of the circle till the Russian foreign minister was through. Vishinsky told reporters nothing more about the Soviet position than they have heard for years in the United Nations.

The day before he told reporters that the Soviet position was not as rigid as they had thought.

Hold-Up Man More Scared Than 'Victim'

A Nanaimo youth Tuesday night got frightened out of a hold-up attempt when the woman he threatened refused his demands.

The youth went into the Black Cat store at 8:55. Moving his hand in his coat pocket to indicate he held a gun, the would-be thief demanded that Mrs. H. Rander hand over all the money she had.

Mrs. Rander told R.C.M.P. she did not believe the youngster had a gun. She refused his demand. The youth made a hasty exit.

A good description was provided by Mrs. Rander.

Debate Warms Mayoral Race

Four Candidates Spar On Platform When Aims Outlined To Union Group

Sewage, garbage disposal, Point Ellice bridge, city manager, smaller council—and the Arena—were all subjects of discussion by the city's four mayoralty candidates in the same rhetorical ring Tuesday night.

Speaking at a meeting of the city firemen's union in the fire hall, Claude Harrison, M. Aubrey Kent, Harry Haigh and Dr. J. D. Hunter each gave a quick review of their platforms.

Mr. Harrison, first speaker, condemned the turning over of the city waterworks to a board.

"It was a paying proposition," he said, "and we gave it away. It has gone beyond our control, and we have even lost the right to generate our own electric power at one-third the cost we are paying now."

"He also criticized the handling of the city's sewage, saying that the overflow pipe on the Clover Point sewer, never intended to carry sewage, is now polluting Ross Bay."

"Look for yourself at the zero fine next May 22 at 10 in the morning," he said.

CLAIM ON OTTAWA

He also reviewed the claim he says the city has against the federal government for not living up to the terms of union in Confederation by providing stipulated steamship service between Victoria and United States ports.

"It means a lot of money," he said. "We must have new money to lower our debts so our neighboring municipalities will feel justified in joining us."

Former alderman Aubrey Kent said his chief reason for seeking election was to see the city manager plan off to a good start.

"Administration used to be loose," he said. "Department heads reported to the mayor, but mayors change. I was instrumental in having a city manager brought to Victoria, and in four to five years you will begin to see improvements in city affairs."

"The city manager will bring you in more dollars than what I call crackpot schemes that are being bandied around today."

ONLY WAY OUT

The only way to get out of debt, he said, was to economize and pay the debt off. Already, in his first year, the city manager has paid for his salary several times over, Kent said.

Candidate Harry Haigh told the firemen the city was passing up a lot of money right at the garbage wharf.

"The equipment is being let go to the dogs," he claimed. "It is costing the city $200,000 per year to dispose of garbage, and now they want to turn it over to some outside interests to handle."

"There is money in garbage. I made money at it myself, and turned around and paid it in wages to the chaps working for me."

City financing would cause him no worry, he said.

"I can figure in my mind," he said. "I've made money for myself, and I think I could see that a lot of money stayed in Victoria."

He ran foul of the last speaker, Dr. J. D. Hunter, who claimed the city's garbage system was not perfect, but that he was "trying to find a way to make it better."

GUIDED BY ECONOMY

"Incineration might be the answer," he said. "Then again, if someone wants to take over our garbage collection I would say 'go ahead,' if it would save the city money."

He also said the Point Ellice Bridge might be rehabilitated for perhaps $100,000, instead of the close to $1,000,000 that a new bridge would cost, and that a competent provincial engineer was making a survey of the structure.

"I have no patience with people who say you take your neck in your hands to go into the Arena," he said. "You are just as safe there as you would be travelling from here to San Francisco on a steamship line promised by Ottawa."

The mistake in building the Arena, he said, was in not having an engineer responsible for the whole construction job.

"That is what I would suggest for the bridge job," he said. "Contractors would be responsible to him, and it would be up to him to produce."

New Tree-Planting Program Approved

The old trees will stand and new ones will be planted, following City Council approval of a parks committee recommendation Tuesday.

Large trees on the established boulevards such as Linden and Moss will remain and $1,500 will be spent transplanting trees from the nursery to undecorated boulevards.

Ald. William Pinfold, chairman, piloted the recommendation through, stating if the present policy of cutting older trees was adhered to the boulevards would be denuded in another 10 years.

Citizens Plan Immigrant Aid

Greater Victoria Citizenship Council met Tuesday night at Spencer House to discuss the problem of how they may help newly arriving immigrants adjust themselves to Canadian life.

At present, there are about 60 to 70 new Canadians coming into Victoria monthly through the immigration branch, and many others coming independently, it was shown.

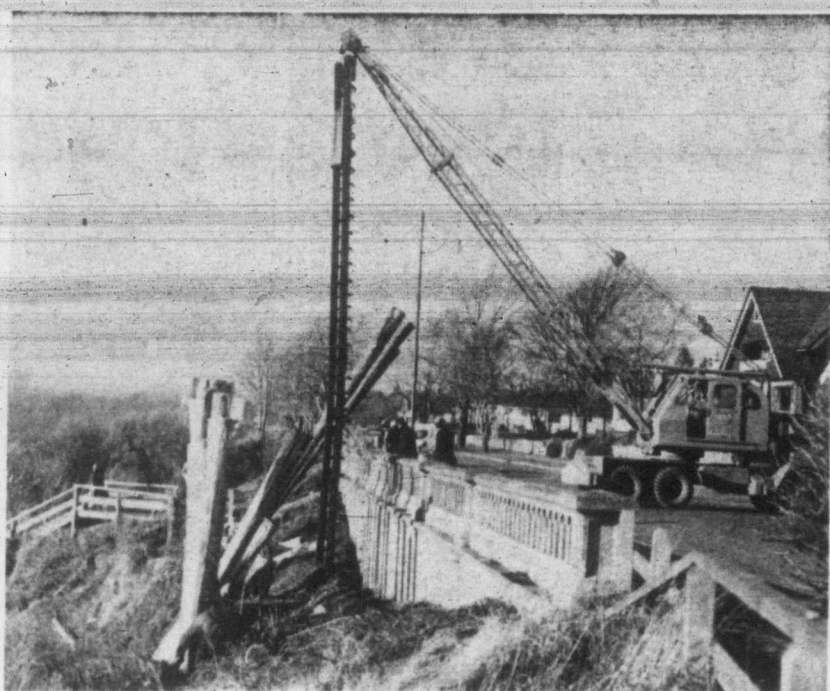

Government officials assist the immigrants in finding employment and housing, but council leaders stressed there is much that needs to be done by the private citizen to make the newcomers, many of whom speak no English, feel at home.

Mrs. E. Livesey, chairman of the welfare committee, told of the need for citizens to inform themselves so they can give advice to immigrants regarding social services and English classes.

A bulletin for this purpose has been prepared by the council.

Plans for Christmas hospitality for the newcomers came under discussion, and it was decided to send letters to service clubs and other organizations requesting that speakers from the council address the club members on the subject of aiding immigrants.

Mrs. H. J. Smith, council president, presided at the meeting.

Canada A Beggar Culturally, Gault Tells Kiwanians

Canada is one of the richest nations in material wealth but "culturally it is a beggar," Barry Gault, chief executive officer of the Labor Relations Board, told the North Kiwanis Club Tuesday.

Gault described Canada as a country without a face. He said some Americans look on Canadians as latter-day pilgrims, some English people are not sure of Canada's status, and Continentals are not sure whether Canadians are American or English.

"Canada has no face because it is not known nationally or culturally outside its borders," said the speaker. "There is no existing art, except some songs, to tell of Canada."

Russia Has Five New Jet Fighter Types, Reports Jane's Authority

LONDON, Dec. 5 (AP).—Russia has five new jet fighter types of later design than the 640-mile-an-hour M.I.G.-15 being used by the Communists in Korea, Jane's All the World's Aircraft said Tuesday.

The 1951-52 edition of the authoritative aviation book came out with a report that these and a number of other new Russian military aircraft "are known to exist." But no accurate information is available on their performance, it said.

Jane's reference to jet fighters of advanced design confirmed the observations of Western reporters and diplomats who witnessed the Soviet aviation day air display over Moscow last July. They reported the Russians had several speedy, new single-jet fighters.

The Red air force also has a twin-jet light bomber, a number of which are in service in East Germany, Jane's said. The book gave no estimate of the bombers' performance.

Jane's said only that they were reported to be heavily armed, both nose and tail, and apparently fitted with radar equipment.

New model American and British military aircraft described by Jane's lag somewhat behind recent public disclosures.

It pictures but does not otherwise describe the British Hawker 1067, a swept-wing jet fighter with a Rolls Royce Avon engine reported to have reached a speed of around 700 miles an hour. This plane, now in production, is destined to supplant the R.A.F.'s Gloster Meteor and Vickers Vampire jets.

The R.A.F. also has a four-jet bomber, the Vickers Valiant, in production. Jane's said no performance details were available. However, the air ministry has disclosed the Valiant is capable of speeds in excess of 500 miles an hour and is far superior to Britain's twin-jet Canberra medium bomber both in load and range.

Jane's said American jet plane progress is "already signposting the way into the next decade," but offered no details on developments not disclosed previously.

Authors To Honor Veteran Newsman

The Christmas banquet of the Canadian Authors' Association, Victoria and Island Branch, will honor James Morton, dean of British Columbia legislative reporters.

The banquet will be held at Lougheed's Banquet Hall at 6.30 Dec. 10.

Morton was a legislative reporter for many years, and once was secretary to the late Premier John Oliver. He wrote a biography, based on the premier's term of office from 1918 to 1927.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

For those interested in statistics, a study of the Pacific Coast Hockey League schedule for the next six weeks should leave ample room for conjecture on the possible course the defending champion Cougars will take.

Naturally such supposition is based on fact—the fact that general manager Fred Hutchinson has intimated rather strongly and with little attempt at subterfuge that new names will soon be appearing in the scoring summaries for the club.

The reason for his optimistic outlook—one theory—is twofold. First, the club finds the schedule pendulum swinging back in its favor with nine of its next 13 games in the friendly atmosphere of Memorial Arena where already this season seven of an overall total of 10 victories have been accounted for. This compares not too favorably with only three triumphs on the road as against eight defeats and two ties, hardly a commendable record for a team which knows that championships are won and lost away from home.

Secondly, the long layover from the time the Cougars meet New Westminster Royals Dec. 22 (the club's final away game this year) until the next away visit to New Westminster Jan. 12 should enable the team to get back on its physical feet.

During that stretch the Cougars will play at home five times. And it is also to be remembered that it was precisely this stage of the 1950-51 campaign that Roger's firebrands started to percolate.

Judging from Hutchinson's remarks and barring further injuries (the great equalizer) it appears reasonably certain that some present-day Cougars will no longer be Cougars when the cats embark on their second prairie trip Jan. 17.

And speaking of an equalizing theme, following this relatively long home stand the schedule reverses its orbit with the Cats away for six of eight games during the latter part of January. On that basis, too, New Westminster Royals appear all alone as the club to beat. The Royals have already made two trips to the hinterlands and in doing so have lost but three points out of 12. No other western club can boast such a record and no other club is likely to, only Seattle Ironmen and the Cougars having the opportunity.

Ironmen Have Tough Road To Hoe

However, the Ironmen, who next week take their first look at the grandeur of the Rockies, are fast running out of home games. At least the proportion of home games to away contests will be working against Tony Hemmerling's high-scoring unit from now on including tonight's game at Seattle, the Ironmen will have played 18 of their 28 contests at home.

This is not so in the case of the Cougars, who, it is generally agreed, are currently and have been since the season's start, at their lowest ebb—that is, if the Cougars are to become a contender for league honors again this season.

It is also no secret that Cougars have been attempting to alleviate the situation with added strength, the point not being overlooked that club officials apparently underestimated the league's overall strength when plans were being formulated this summer.

That is one reason. The other is that certain players and club have not lived up to expectations or commitments which is something that could not be foreseen.

Lester Has A Product To Sell

However, all is not lost as some would have us believe. Lester Patrick is the first to admit that he has a product to sell, and also, that if the fans don't like his product they don't have to buy it.

Both Patrick and Hutchinson are seeking to improve this product. There have been several near deals which have never been finalized and never announced. This much is known.

And there won't be any definite announcement of an improved product until patents applied for have been copyrighted.

Meanwhile, Coach Roger Leger, who foresaw the club's present plight from a chair in the lounge of the King George Hotel in Saskatoon back in September, has turned juggler in an attempt to get the most out of those at his disposal.

So far, he's turned in a wonderful performance. And it isn't as Roger said a few weeks ago in a moment of despondency: "Maybe it's my fault. I don't know."

The next six weeks should tell the story.

AUSSIE NET FANS MYSTIFIED

Doubles Experiment Ends In Twin Defeat

By GAYLE TALBOT

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 5 (AP)—Australia's great tennis doubles experiment ended today with tennis fans as mystified as when it began.

Both the Aussies' scrub teams caught one-sided beatings in the semi-finals of the Victoria championships and both Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor continued to look very unhappy with their strange partners.

Americans Ted Schepherd and his youthful naval trainee helper, Tony Trabert, slammed their way into Friday's final with straight set 6-3, 8-6, 7-5 win.

BASKETBALL PLATOONS—YET

LARAMIE, Wyo., Dec. 5 (AP)—The two platoon system will be tried this season by Wyoming's basketball team.

Coach Everett F. Shelton has developed two separate and complete units as he guns for his seventh Skyline Conference championship since he took over the cowboy reins in 1940.

Shelton will try to mow down the opposition with fast break unit and a ball control unit. The theory is to use the separate units periodically to throw off balance and defeat the opponent.

'EVERYTHING KEEPS IMPROVING'

Heavyweight Crop Best Ever

By HAL WOOD

SANTA ROSA, Cal., Dec. 5 (UP)—The most successful manager in the history of boxing said today that the present crop of heavyweight contenders is the best the world ever has known.

That's the word from dapper John Leo McKernan, aged 63, and better known as Jack (Doc) Kearns.

"Why the current crop of heavyweight contenders is better than it ever was," the balding, sprightly manager said, "it's just like comparing the horse and buggy with the automobile and the automobile with the airplane—everything keeps improving."

He listed in the present crowd eligible to get a crack at Jersey

Cougar Might On Injured List

Watching the Cougars' games from unaccustomed spots in the cash customers' seats recently were Eddie Dorohoy (left) and Fiori Goegan. Dorohoy is not going Hollywood—the dark glasses are to protect the eye that was badly injured by a stick in Vancouver. Out for two games, the Pistol worked out with the club this week and is expected to be back for Friday's game against Calgary. For Goegan, the inactive period may extend another six weeks. The big defenseman is recuperating from the operation on his knee cartilage but is still on crutches.

Minor League Unable To Survive Radio Umbrella

THE CASH IS READY—FOR A PERFECT GAME

Get your bowling togs out chums, there's money to be made at Gibson's Bowladrome.

Harry Stuart, manager of the pin emporium, has set a standing offer of $400 for anyone who turns in a perfect game at the alley. If you are a woman you can parlay your loot as the Bowling Alley Operators' Association will toss in an extra $100.

In addition to the prizes for the perfect games, there is $50 offered to anyone who scores 425 or better in fivepins or 275 in tenpins and $25 for 400 or better in fivepins or 250 with the big pins.

All alley rules must be observed and an alley operator must be called to check the score after seven strikes have been registered.

Russians Going All Out For Olympic Domination

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK, Dec. 5 (UP)—The Olympic Games were designed originally to promote international good will but once again today they loomed as a proving grounds for propaganda.

As much as the athletic idealists hate to admit it, come next summer it will be the nations of the free world against Soviet tyranny on a bloodless muscular battlefield at Helsinki, Finland.

The tipoff on this came from Albert F. Whittle as he retired as president of the A.A.U. Mining no words, he disclosed that Russia is spending $5,500,000 on athletics as part of the cold war. For the first time the Soviet is eligible for the games. No indication has been given whether it will participate.

This is because Russia wants to be certain of a sensational showing. Domination of the games, according to Whittle, would set up the Soviet for a gigantic propaganda offensive.

It is a situation reminiscent of 1936 when the windy furor with the mustache hoped to use the Olympics as a means of demonstrating to the world the validity of his Aryan concepts.

Ambitious Adolph figured his pedigreed would convince potential victims that resistance would be futile when he stepped into the wholesale real estate business a la Genghis Khan.

He overlooked a few little items marked "made in the U.S.A." or "made in Great Britain," or "made in Mexico," and such. They hailed from spots where nobody questioned their antecedents, their religion or the color of their skins. They were there because they gloried in competition and had it on the ball.

TRUDY MANGIN GAME LOSER

Shuttlers Run To Form

The Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club shuttle championships are going amazingly true to form with two rounds away and still no major upsets.

Tuesday night the second round was played with all the favorites advancing in their respective divisions.

Feature match of the round was the great struggle put on by Trudy Mangin against third-seeded Joy Wason. An underdog all the way, Miss Mangin fought desperately before being out by 8-11, 11-8, 11-7 scores.

Tonight's draw follows: 7 p.m.—Marg Bonner and Jean Terrier vs. Norma Melville and Mary Parker; Jim Wells vs. Larry Parker; Phil Rodman vs. Stan Richard; Jack Parker vs. Eric Hincherson; Bill Skilling vs. Vince Martin. 8:30 p.m.—Jean Baillie vs. Joan Johnston; Jean Baillie vs. Joyce Poling; Clare King vs. Betty Tremblay; Betty Weightman vs. Dawn Joseph; Viv Cook and Carrie Foster vs. Beanie Wilson and Betty Keys.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 5 (AP)—George Trautman today warned that minor-league baseball cannot long survive the "radio umbrella" of major-league broadcasts.

The president of the National Association of Minor Leagues told the opening session of the golden jubilee convention that "the solution is squarely in the hands of the individual club."

"It is the legal right (and moral obligation)," said Trautman, for each individual club to exercise a reasonable restraint over its broadcasting and telecasting policies.

Trautman said minor-league fans have become major-league conscious because of "nation-wide broadcasts that fill the air daily with highly-colored descriptions of major-league play."

Delegates were reminded that the N.A.M.L. structure has shrunk from 59 leagues and 444 clubs in 1949 to 49 leagues and 356 clubs in 1951. Attendance declined from 43,700,000 to 27,500,000.

"Certainly it would be wiser for each major league to pursue a policy that would permit the minors to live," Trautman said.

Calling the 24-hour recall a tool that makes a "whistle stop" of a minor-league town for the benefit of a higher club, Trautman asked for its abolition.

He also urged the majors to curtail all-expense excursions that snatch fans from minor-league cities on week-ends.

Trautman asked "serious and favorable consideration" for the proposed new high-school rule that would permit baseball scouts to approach schoolboys on the same basis as agents of other sports.

FIGHT OFF; FOOD TURNS TO FAT

LONDON, Dec. 5 (CP)—Boxing promoter Jack Solomons today abandoned plans to stage a world light-heavyweight title fight between champion Joey Maxim and Britain's Don Cockell in London March 11. He said the British boxer is unfit.

Cockell, British and European champion, lost by a technical knockout in the fourth round last night to Jimmy Slade of New York.

Manager John Simpson said Cockell is having serious weight troubles and everything he eats "turns to fat instead of muscle." He is to go into a nursing home for a check-up.

What is the hottest match available to the public today? "Why, that would be between Maxim and Harry Matthews, the knockout kid from Seattle," he answers quick as a flash.

"For that one, the television rights alone would be worth $200,000. And it could be staged in New York, Chicago or San Francisco with equal success. Seattle and Boise also would like it, but they don't have the seating capacity for such a battle. It would be a sell-out wherever it would be held."

Stampeders Lose; Flyers-Quakers Tie

Canucks Extend Home Mark

As far as Edmonton hockey fans are concerned, Johnny Raynak, Colin Kilburn and Pop Backer are the hottest salvage organization on the prairies.

Edmonton Flyers were trailing 3-1 Tuesday night when the three-man line exploded with three goals in the final period for a 4-4 Pacific Coast Hockey League deadlock with the third-spot Saskatoon Quakers.

The sawoff at Saskatoon enabled the sixth-place Flyers to maintain a one-point lead over Vancouver Canucks, who walked over the cellar-dwelling Calgary Stampeders 4-0 at the coast.

Each member of the line got three points. Raynak scored twice and got an assist. Backer scored once in addition to two assists, while Kilburn helped on all three goals.

The other Edmonton goal was scored in the second period by defenseman Howie Cox. Jerry Cotoir played goal for the Flyers.

Neil Strain, Cy Rouse, Chuck McCullough and Alex Kuzma connected for Quakers, who took a 2-0 margin in the first period and then were held to single goals in each of the following heats.

EASY NIGHT
Vancouver never had it so easy. Nor did Canuck goalie Red McAtee, who had to block only 16 shots, most of them easy, for his second shutout of the season. It was Vancouver's seventh game without defeat at home.

Vancouver scored once in each of the first two periods and added two for good measure in the third against the Stamps, who have yet to taste victory in any of the coastal strongholds. Bill Hagen scored his first of two goals in the opening period.

All P.C.H.L. activity tonight is in the U.S. Calgary travels to Tacoma and the run-up Seattle Ironmen entertain the league-leading New Westminster Royals.

PAGING REG PATTERSON; 'KASPIE' READY TO WORK

If the Victoria Athletics have any trouble lining up a capable pitching staff this year, they can find a strong right arm in Hawaii.

Len Kasparovitch, a resident of the magic island, has stated that he would give his best Aloha shirt if he could come back to Victoria.

Dr. and Mrs. Jack Patterson and Jack Kersey have just returned from three weeks' vacation in the Hawaiian Islands where they met "Kaspie."

One of the most popular players who ever wore Victoria flannels, Kasparovitch is a member of the Honolulu police force and divides his time between playing baseball and looking after his three children. Mrs. Kasparovitch presented him with his third child while the Pattersons and Kersey were there.

Smythe Agrees To Overtime

By JACK SULLIVAN

That fellow Conn Smythe is a big-hearted guy.

The latest word from his Toronto headquarters in the National Hockey League is that he is willing to have his Maple Leafs battle it out with Boston Bruins if those two clubs happen to end 60 minutes of hockey in a tie—and if the N.H.L. says it is okay.

Of course, the N.H.L. isn't going to allow such goings-on between the Leafs and Bruins, particularly since New York Rangers and Chicago Black Hawks have been screaming for a year or so that the N.H.L. scrap its ban on sudden-death overtime. Why Smythe, a leading advocate against overtime, picked on the Bruins wasn't made clear.

"It would be sort of a local option overtime, applicable to Boston only," Smythe was quoted as saying. He added: "Of course, the league first would have to okay it."

New York and Chicago would have a lot to say about this "local option" before such a thing came to pass. Their fans have been hollering for a return to sudden-death overtime for a couple of years and they would certainly put the fritz on this "favoritism."

The Bruins didn't need overtime play last night as they whipped Chicago 3-1 at Boston before a slim 5,391 crowd. The Bruins scored a goal a period on tallies by Dave Creighton, Johnny Peirson and Bill Ezinicki.

Victory moved Boston into third place, one point ahead of Montreal Canadiens.

LEAFS MEET WINGS

Tonight, the Leafs and first-place Detroit Red Wings, who have been making with the words since they met in a somewhat violent collision Sunday night, will have the chance of showing fans they were just kidding—or that the fist and stick-swinging was the real thing. The two meet at Toronto in a game that will give the Stanley Cup champions their big chance of sharing the lead with Tommy Ivan's crew since the 1951-52 season started. The Wings haven't dropped a game away from home—they've won seven and tied three on foreign ice this year.

Summary:
First Period—1, Chicago, Babando 12:00; 2, Boston, Creighton (McIntyre, Peirson) 17:12, Penalty: Horek 11:24.
Second Period—3, Boston, Peirson (Sullivan, Brown) 10:46, Penalty: Desbaryer, 10:26.
Third Period—4, Boston, Ezinicki (Ferguson, Quackenbush) 11:11. No penalties.

HOLDING DOWN A SPOT on the forward line of Victoria Merchants tonight will be Cliff Coulter, former Navy star. Merchants tackle Civil Service at 9 in the third game of the three-game Commercial Hockey League card. Two points out of first place, Merchants hope to regain the lead.

Viduals Seeking Revenge From Navy Squad Tonight

Individual Cleaners will have a ranking score to settle tonight when they face off with Navy in the feature Commercial Hockey League game at the arena.

At one time, the Vids were hugging the league lead, right behind the leaders. However, they have lost their last three games and have slithered down to a last-place tie.

Biggest stains in the Cleaners' laundry have been the service clubs, Army and Navy. In the last three weeks Army has beaten them twice and Navy dumped them once to push them into the cellar.

Tonight, Viduals are confident that their losing string will be cut off. Playing manager Dick Irving reported Tuesday night that he has signed Lude Waring, a 36-year-old centre who has considerable action with New York Rovers and Philadelphia Ramblers in the prewar year.

While Waring has been out of competition for some time, he may be the steady influence that the young and somewhat inexperienced Viduals need.

BOTTLERS FACE SOLDIERS
In the opener, Seven-Ups will have to be on their toes to protect their two-point hold on the league lead. Gaining the lead with a 5-1 win over Victoria Merchants last week, Seven-Ups tonight must face the challenge of the fast-closing Army club. Since losing their first three games, the soldiers have picked themselves up by the straps of their government brogans and have scored three wins and a tie in their last four games.

The finale matches Civil Service with Victoria Merchants. Stung by their defeat last week, Merchants will have to win tonight to stay within hailing distance of the Seven-Ups crew.

'Y' Swim Team Picked
The Y.M.C.A. swimming team that will compete in a gala in Vancouver Saturday has been chosen. Members asked to check with Archie McKinnon or Percy Riddle tonight regarding arrangements are: Ruth McAllister, Helen Simenson, Pat Knowles, Sheri Stott, Gillian Watson, Gail Stott, Barbara Westinghouse, Donally Blythe, Buddy Hudson, Melvin Hawes, Warren Williams, Wally Watson, Bob Good and Joe Thwaites. The team will leave for Vancouver on the Friday midnight boat.

Tonight the club will hold a social for all senior and junior swimmers following the practise at 7.

Christmas Shoot Scheduled Sunday
Rifles and shotguns will boom and archers' bows will twang next Sunday at Luxton when members of the South Vancouver Island Rangers gun for prizes in the annual Christmas shoot.

Shooting will start at 10:30. Coffee and light refreshments will be served. The Rangers extend an invitation to the public to attend.

DiMaggio To Decide Today

Williams Deal Hinges On Joe's Plans

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 5 (UP)—Joe DiMaggio will tell co-owner Del Webb of New York Yankees today whether he will play next year but it will be at least 24 hours before the rest of the baseball world is informed of the $90,000-a-year outfielder's decision.

DiMaggio will make his decision known to Webb at a private luncheon following his arrival from San Francisco this morning. Then the pair will fly in Webb's private plane to New York where DiMaggio's decision will be announced either Thursday or Friday.

Webb and his partner, Dan Topping, already have indicated that DiMaggio can have his record $90,000-a-year contract for a fourth straight season merely by consenting to play. No effort will be made to slice his salary despite a .263 batting average in 1951.

DiMaggio's decision is awaited just as eagerly by the seven other clubs in the American League as by the Yankee management. For the decision entails much more than whether one of the greatest players in history has finally decided to call it a career.

TO STAND PAT
General manager George Weiss and manager Casey Stengel have indicated at the minor league meetings at Columbus, O., that they will adopt a "stand-pat" policy toward major trades if DiMaggio decides to play again.

At the same time they indicated they would be prepared to open negotiations for Boston Red Sox slugger Ted Williams if DiMaggio decides to retire.

The mystery concerning DiMaggio's plans and the resulting indecision by the Yankees as regards attempting to close a big deal apparently have been major factors in holding up tentative transactions at Columbus. DiMaggio's decision, one way or the other, undoubtedly will have an important bearing on whether big deals now in the "if" stage at Columbus will be closed when the owners move to New York for the major league meetings over the week-end.

TOP PROTEGE of Louis Callan's club, Fred Curtis has been matched with James Bay's Paul Calvey in one of the 12 bouts in Thursday night's fight card at Victoria Ballroom. Curtis carries the colors of St. Louis College and will be facing an opponent who has scored knockouts in his last two matches.

MAJOR LEAGUE TRADE WINDS BLOW

Dodgers Go Whole Hog—Want Stan Musial

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 5 (UP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers, with what generally is regarded (except by the Giants) as the best club in baseball, went out after real big game today — Stan Musial, the best all-around player in the game.

Although none of the three clubs involved in the proposed deal would comment, the report was:

1—That the Dodgers would give up outfielders Carl Furillo and Duke Snider plus $16,000 in cash to the St. Louis Cardinals in return for Musial.

2—The Cardinals would send Furillo to the New York Giants for Eddie Stanky, the little guy owner Fred Saigh of the Cardinals wants for their new manager.

The source which outlined the story went on to reveal that he also was the man who forecast that the club owners would repudiate A. B. (Happy) Chandler as commissioner.

And at that time all of you fellows laughed," he said. "Well it just happened that somebody else had the last laugh."

There was more substance to the possibility of a deal between the Dodgers and the Cincinnati Reds, involving that additional pitcher the Bums have been seeking for so long.

Dodger vice-president E. J. (Buzz) Bavasi met with general manager Gabe Paul of the Reds and Bavasi announced, "I think there is a good chance that we will work out something with the Reds, for Gabe is anxious to make changes that will help his ball club."

General speculation was that Howie Fox was the Red pitcher involved with the Dodgers offering outfielder Cal Abrams and infielder Rocky Bridges.

Frampton In Bid For Cougars Scoring Lead

With Ed Dorohoy temporarily out of action, Bob Frampton took a step closer to first place in the Cougars' club scoring race and scored one assist over the weekend, pulling himself to within seven points of Dorohoy.

Dorohoy is still the leader with 12 goals and 22 assists, but Frampton is closing fast with 14 goals and 13 assists for 27 points. Andy Hebertson of the new line is third with 24, while Doug Anderson has 20 points.

Ollie Dorohoy still leads the league race with 38 points, while Seattle's Joe Bell has moved into a tie with Eddie Dorohoy for runner-up honors.

Doug Adam is next with 31 points.

Saanich Marks Swift Progress

Local Improvement Policy Paying Off With Better Roads, More Confidence

By DON INGHAM

Saanich set a record this year. Previously local improvement by-laws were prepared at the rate of one every three or four years.

In 1951, however, Saanich rate-payers have sanctioned 17 local improvement by-laws for water-works and road improvements to cost an estimated $65,000, and six others are still in the review stage.

First impetus given the local improvement idea was a favorable vote in 1950 on a referendum to have secondary roads repaired by this method. Then in May the municipal council approved the council-initiated improvement by-law scheme.

In this way the council can plan improvements in certain areas, and go ahead with the work providing there are not too many objections.

"We haven't begun to scratch the surface of this scheme yet," Henry Blakeney, superintendent of works, said today.

"None of our projects are finished. When they are, then we will have some examples to show others, and be able to give a good idea of the cost."

DELAY SAVES LABOR

Another deterrent is the forthcoming sewer project, he said.

Lang's Cockerel Takes Top Honors

A Partridge Rock cockerel, entered by J. L. Lang, 3976 Braefoot, won the grand championship at the poultry show at Vancouver's Exhibition Park.

Lang also led the modern game division with a Black Red hen. Other Victoria winners were G. S. Eden with a Buff Orpington champion pullet; A. Adams, whose White Leghorn cock led, the Mediterranean class, and B. Woolley, with the champion Old English game bird.

Film strips on citizenship and an animated film entitled "The Family Tree" were shown by Ernest Belton of the National Film Board.

The council is not encouraging road improvements in the sewer area because they would have to be ripped up to install sewer mains and laterals.

"When the sewer system is in we will feel free to encourage people to improve their streets and sidewalks," Blakeney said. "I expect to see tremendous changes in Saanich."

He also said residents show more confidence in their municipal government than previously.

"There are not nearly the number of complaints each year that we had 10 years ago," he said, "and I know the services offered are not that much better. Today people seem to want the place to go ahead."

First Snow Falls On Malahat Slopes

Victorians who like being prepared should dig out their long-handled snow shovels from the basement.

Snow fell on the Malahat Tuesday—only about 15 miles from the city. The "beautiful nuisance" covered the highway for several miles but cars had no trouble on the hills.

13-YEAR-OLD ROBS HOMES

SIoux CITY, Ia., Dec. 5 (AP)—A 13-year-old girl has admitted robbing houses on her way to and from baby-sitting jobs, detective chief Harry J. Gibbons said Tuesday. He said the eighth-grade pupil had obtained $60 in cash and various other items at several homes.

$12,000 To Be Spent Immediately On Arena's Most Urgent Repairs

By a vote of 5-2, City Council Tuesday authorized Swan, Rhodes & Wooster to undertake $12,000 worth of work on Memorial Arena immediately "due to the state of urgency."

Debate produced several mild flurries, when Ald. Millard Mooney wanted opinion from city officials first. He urged a joint council-arena commission meeting. His amendment was lost, 2-5.

Ald. Robert Macmillan objected to having the recommendations of the S. R. & W. report implemented and supervised by the firm, instead of by city officials. "It's up to our own officials to implement it," he said.

Ald. Mooney later complained the matter was "bull-dozed through."

Ald. Waldo Skillings and Acting Mayor Frank Mulliner heatedly denied it, the latter stating the aldermen had ample time to study the report.

Work to be done immediately comprises construction of spray pond, fencing, around spray pond, extension of storm sewer, paving and ditching, and purchase and installation of a new compressor.

Council also approved a finance committee recommendation that the S. R. & W. report be adopted, the firm be retained for implementing recommendations and to submit a report showing priority of work to be performed.

Asked by Ald. William Pinfold of the arena's safety, Col. W. G. Swan, consulting engineer, said there was no danger of the roof falling or the walls caving in.

Only defect, he said, was the fact that the city did not get more seating capacity for the money spent.

Ald. Macmillan said he was not in favor of paying a firm to select priority of work. Ald. Skillings said he was sorry Col. Swan was subjected to "this kind of thing" and said there was no man on the city's staff qualified to supervise the work and do what S. R. & W. had done in their report.

City Manager Cecil Wyatt said a council-commission meeting would be held when a priority list of work had been drawn up and the question of finances had to be discussed.

Closure And Fat Purse Needed To Mend Bridge

Repairs to Point Ellice Bridge will cost $121,000 and necessitate a three-month closure.

This was the estimate of A. L. Carruthers, consulting engineer, who presented a list of eight conclusions from his 54-page detailed report to Tuesday's City Council meeting.

The report was referred to public works committee for study in consultation with Carruthers.

"The question is: Are we willing to spend $121,000 for a bridge that will last for 15 years or ask the citizens for a new bridge," said Ald. Percy Scourrah, public works chairman.

Carruthers' findings were: Bridge superstructure for most part in good condition; defective members can be repaired or replaced; when work completed, structure will be safe for traffic under provincial highway regulations.

"If properly maintained the structure will last 15 years," Carruthers said.

"Providing approaches are sufficiently improved and parking and traffic to and from side streets and private entrances is limited and controlled, the bridge will have a traffic volume capacity equal to that of any high-class traffic deck with width of 21 feet six inches.

"To complete the job will take three months (perhaps less) from date of closure, providing materials are all delivered prior to closure. Thus completion date will be (if all goes well) nine months after contract is let. In this is allowed seven months for delivery of steel grid deck."

Carruthers said it would be a little difficult but quite practicable to specify for and carry out the work by contract. Estimate of cost was based on present prices.

Ald. Scourrah outlined history of past bridge plans and said the last estimate of bridge cost was $750,000, which council felt was too heavy.

"Money spent for those plans was essential because we could not ask Hon. C. D. Howe for steel until we knew how much steel we would need," said the alderman.

He felt no action should be taken until the new council is elected.

"The bridge is safe at the present time, at present speed and load restrictions."

PICKED FIVE WINNERS

Student Repays Loan Faster

BOULDER, Colo., Dec. 5 (AP)—When dean of men at Colorado University opened a letter from a former student, now in Alaska, a cheque slipped out.

It was for the full amount of a loan the student had made from the university's loan fund.

The borrower explained he was able to pay his debt faster than he'd expected because of a bonanza at the race track. He said he figured his university training had something to do with his picking five winners in a row.

UNDERWORLD REPORT

Claim Part Of Brink Loot Retained By Dead Gangster

BOSTON, Dec. 5 (UP)—The Boston Post quoted "underworld sources" Tuesday as saying that $85,000 in loot from the $1,219,000 Brink's, Inc., hold-up nearly two years ago had been recovered from the possessions of a dead gangster.

The Post, in a story by crime reporter Lawrence R. Goldberg, said the money was recovered from the effects of Louis (The Pig) Uva, a north end racketeer and gambler, who died of a heart seizure in Lynn last year while police sought him for questioning in the ambush slaying of George R. Killeen, 30, of South Boston.

According to the newspaper, Uva purchased the money at reduced rates when it was offered for sale in the underworld some months after the Brink's hold-up. The money, the Post said, was part of the $98,900 in bills whose serial numbers were made public by the F.B.I.

The F.B.I. and Boston police said they knew nothing about the report.

Stars Of Singing Romance

It's a new romantic high when Lana Turner and Ezio Pinza, former star of Broadway's "South Pacific," make love in "Mr. Imperium," story of a king who gives up his throne for an actress. The M-G-M Technicolor singing romance, starting today at the Royal Theatre, marks Pinza's first appearance before motion picture cameras.

IN HOLLYWOOD

Morals Of Movie Capital Folk Again Spotlited

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 5 (AP).—How immoral is Hollywood?

With almost daily revelations of immorality in United States public life, attention is again focused on this great centre of human foibles and follies—Hollywood.

Recent headline happenings of Barbara Payton, Franchot Tone, Ava Gardner, Frank Sinatra and others have brought another flood of protest.

But what are the facts? Hollywood claims that it is as normal as any other community, but that when its notables misbehave, they make news. The town's critics claim that it is a cesspool of sin.

GRAIN OF SALT

Neither view is correct. Hollywood is neither as good as it claims or as bad as outsiders paint it.

The film industry often points proudly to a survey made in 1947. The habits of 1,235 persons were queried. The survey reported that 70.1 per cent had never been divorced, 61.3 attended church, etc.

But the replies were from all kinds of movie workers, not merely actors.

Industry leaders claim that newspapers overplay the misdeeds of a few celebrities.

I have always thought that the industry's defense of its moral structure overlooks the nature of the acting breed. Most actors are not normal individuals. They are emotional and inclined to erratic behavior. They also are attractive people, and their opportunities for romance are greater than those of normal folks.

8,000,000 U.S. Cigarettes Seized

OTTAWA, Dec. 5 (CP).—More than 8,000,000 smuggled United States cigarettes have been seized by federal authorities in Canada since last April 1, it was learned Tuesday. Between April 1 and Oct. 30, some 306 prosecutions have been launched, with 301 convictions for smuggling. The seized cigarettes were turned over to veterans' hospitals.

Solo Act Must Be Good—This Was

If a one-man show is to sustain interest and hold its audience for two hours, then it has to be good! Nothing less—nothing that is fair or quite good, is tolerable.

The audience that heard and saw Clement May in his remarkable characterizations, Tuesday night at Metropolitan United Church, were not only held, but fascinated and richly entertained.

Mr. May, of course, is particularly famed for his re-creation of Dickens' well-loved characters. He is a consummate master of the art of make-up but the make-up in his case, is truly "scenery" worn by the actor. It serves, as all good scenery should do, only to enhance and render visually satisfactory elements which are already present.

Applying his make-up "on stage," the actor carried on a monologue which introduced the man, Charles Dickens and the people of his imagination. As Dickens, he described the author's home, his early life, his love for children.

In introducing "Wilkins Micawber"—one of the most remarkable characterizations of the evening—he told how Dickens had found in his own father, the prototype for this greatest of optimists in literature and "the biggest ass in money matters."

The scene from "The Old Curiosity Shop" was humorous and at the same time, deeply moving. With this and for "A Christmas Carol," lovely effects of chimes and choral singing were introduced.

Part one of the program contained an interesting miscellany from Shakespeare's "Hamlet" to A. A. Milne's "Christopher Robin." Throughout, Mr. May's expressive voice and beautifully

Minor Injuries, Heavy Damage In Quadra Crash

Herbert W. Lane, Royal Oak, suffered minor hurts late Tuesday night when this car he was driving piled into a telephone pole at North Quadra near Rogers. About $800 damage was done in the crash. A B.C.E.R. trouble crew attended and braced the leaning, split pole.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Magistrate H. C. Hall dismissed a charge of unlawful possession of a narcotic against William Luesley, Davie Street, in city court today.

The magistrate said he was giving accused "benefit of the doubt."

Traces of morphine sulphate were found in a syringe Luesley had in his possession, but Magistrate Hall considered there was a possibility those traces remained after the accused had been legally given a narcotic by a physician.

Four motorists paid $150 in fines in city police court today for careless driving.

Fined $40 each were John Vynovich, Prospect Lake, and Douglas K. Wright, 527 Selkirk. Fined $35 each were James T. Lambie, 1060 Craigdarroch, and Adeline E. Pownall, 1355 Victoria. All were involved in collisions. Three pleaded guilty to the charge. Lambie pleaded not guilty and was found guilty.

Residents of five blocks leading off Richmond Road are asked to get in touch with civil defense co-ordinator Leonard G. Hatcher (B7533) to determine the effectiveness of the Nov. 25 air raid siren test.

He said today the blocks—Argyle, Waterloo, Woodley, Mayfair and Cotswold—are in the middle of a "conflict area" and no reports of the test have been received from them yet.

Civil defense co-ordinator Leonard G. Hatcher will go to Seattle Dec. 27 to confer with defense co-ordinator Henry Berg there on mutual defense problems.

He will also meet the regional federal civil defense administration director while there.

Hatcher and Berg will discuss defense planning in the two cities and work out a mutual assistance plan.

Forest management was among subjects discussed today at a meeting at the Legislative Buildings of 25 provincial government forest officials gathered to review the year's work.

F. S. McKinnon, forester in charge of the forest management division, addressed the group.

Dr. C. D. Orchard, deputy minister of forests, presided.

Big Drop In Egg Prices Forecast

Egg prices have the skids under them. A big price drop is expected in Victoria within the next two days.

The price dropped in Vancouver today, the decline ranging from five cents a dozen for peewees to 41 cents a dozen for Grade A large.

Grade A large were quoted on the mainland retail level at between 52 and 62 cents a dozen. Grade A large were selling in Victoria stores for as high as 74 cents a dozen.

Many At Oak Bay Defense Meeting

District civil defense courses will start soon for about 100 Oak Bay volunteers following a Tuesday night meeting at the municipal hall.

Defense co-ordinator Leonard G. Hatcher said the meeting, the first for district volunteers in this area, was a great success.

A big turnout of residents heard talks on defense needs and effect of high explosives.

The area, known as civil defense district "F", takes in residents of Oak Bay and part of Saanich. Capt. Eustace Brock heads the volunteer group.

Puppy's Death Rouses Public

Hundreds of telephone calls are pouring into the S.P.C.A. Shelter from people anxious to know if the person responsible for throwing a seven-week-old puppy from the window of a speeding car on Esquimalt Road last week has been found.

The interest shown in this case is evidence that the public will not stand for the mistreatment of animals," said Robert Maggs, society inspector.

Maggs said the persons responsible for the act had not yet been located and a reward in the case now stands at $80.

Curiosity Marks Diphtheria Blood Test

Immunization test today by hypodermic needle held no terrors for these Central Junior High School students, but their natural curiosity got the better of them in school health office. Fourteen-year-old Barbara Edwards proudly shows school chums (left to right) Margaret Koller,

Judy Rogers, Gail Lomas and Sandy Caldwell her arm after city health officer Dr. J. L. Gayton had taken 5-cc. blood sample for test in new caramel candy "booster" toxoid to be given children in about six weeks. (Times photo)

THE NEEDLE TEST'S 'A CINCH'

But From Now It Will Be Caramels

By RON BAIRD

A brave band of little warriors bared their left arms today and took their diphtheria blood tests with a stiff upper lip.

They were the first of about 75 Central Junior High School students to undergo the new "booster" tests for diphtheria immunization.

Results of the tests will be known in about six weeks—the children will then be given a newly-developed caramel candy "booster" toxoid at the rate of three per day for a five-day period.

The candied toxoid is easy to take—the needle for the blood testing is a little different matter. But most of the first group of children this morning agreed the needle "didn't hurt much."

Dr. J. L. Gayton, city health officer, administered the test with the help of three public health nurses.

One child, peering anxiously around the partition that separated the "operation" from the waiting students, asked a school chum: "I'm going to go next—does it hurt, Terry?"

"No," scoffed her friend, "the nurse picks a subject to talk about while they do the test. I talked about swimming."

A 'CINCH'

Twelve-year-old Terry Green munched a Japanese orange, the reward all children received after taking the test, and agreed the blood test was a "cinch."

"Testing of children from 15 divisions at the school will be completed today," said school nurse Mrs. Barbara Fields.

About 300 students in the Greater Victoria area will take the caramel "booster" toxoid. Age groups will run from under 12, 12-18 and over 18. A secondary blood test is necessary within a year to find out how the "booster" worked.

Canadian-developed, the candy was first tried at the University of Toronto and is now in the "verification" stage. Past tests in Toronto have been termed a great success.

The candied "booster" is expected to replace the need for needle-injected follow-up doses of the immunization toxoids.

Permission to have their children tested in the new scheme was sought by Dr. Gayton and he said the results have been "wonderful." More children volunteered than were actually needed. Tests will continue in city schools throughout the remainder of this week.

Regal Gifts Of Silver
Are Dazzling—Not Costly

By PENNY SAVER

Silver is a coveted gift at any time. It's attractive to look at, it's durable, it brightens any table, any room. And it is somehow especially pretty and shiny when it's lifted from gay wrappings and ribbon on Christmas morning.

Silver, though lovely, needn't be costly. If it's a fine sterling-silver-plated, it will look well, and wear well, for many years.

A versatile gravy boat and tray with matching servers, for instance, makes a silver gift that's smartly co-ordinated and yet budget-priced. The gravy boat can hold sauce as well as gravy.

For another gift that will make a dazzling appearance for a pitance, you might try typing a dozen after-dinner coffee spoons to the branches of a miniature spruce tree with bits of red ribbon.

This, by the way, makes a gift that's good for the career girl, the young married couple or the older married couple.

In fact, it's a gift ideal for practically anyone but a small child. And children have their own silver gifts. One set is made up of a tiny fork and spoon. Then a silver mug is always well received by the child and of course the parents. A silver serviette ring is also popular.

Almost any household would welcome a pair of tall, slim table lighters in period styling. Useful any place in the house, they're particularly right on the dining room table. It doesn't matter if no one in the house smokes since undoubtedly there are guests who do.

While you're Christmas shopping for silver gifts, bear in mind that there are all qualities of silver. Be sure you look it over carefully before you buy.

Here's more news for the men. I mentioned a few days ago a few gifts to get you started on your Christmas shopping. Here's a few more suggestions.

There are fancy covered books in town for keeping dates, making memos, or any other purpose a woman may find for them.

Also you may like to present her with a decorated glass case, that is, if she wears glasses. They can be found, and if she wears glasses just for reading she would welcome a case just a little out of the ordinary.

That's all for now, but there'll be more.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Personality And Posture
Are Pliable In Teen Years

A short time ago I had the pleasure of visiting in Boston. I talked to around five hundred high school editors from the Boston vicinity. It was a lot of fun. These young women were alert and intelligent. I did not prepare a formal talk because I wanted to give them time to ask any questions they wished. I did suggest two things to them which I want to pass on to other young women who read "Why Grow Old?"

First, in the teen years you are so pliable in every way: your bones and your muscles are more subject to change than they will be in later years. Defects in posture can be remedied whereas later on correction will be more difficult, if not impossible. I can look at the way you hold yourself today and tell you what figure faults you will have at the age of twenty-five. The same thing is true of your thoughts and ideals and personality. The way you think, eat, act and carry yourself today creates you—the woman of tomorrow.

Second, young women are also likely to strive for what they believe to be sophistication. Often this is just the opposite. The true sophisticate is never bored, her values are all straightened out, and she is mature enough and self-confident enough to stick to her own beliefs and to make her own judgments as to her conduct, rather than trying to follow the crowd.

All young people like to "belong," to be popular with the crowd (and so do older folks), but the really grown-up teenager is the one who does what she does because she wants to and thinks it is right, rather than because others are doing it. The ones who plan their lives on what others think are still quite immature and young.

If you would like to have my leaflet written for teenagers, leaflet No. 58, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for "Popularity" to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Victoria Woman In Mexico
Sees President; PyramidsHOTEL REFORMA
MEXICO CITY

"Since we left home we've crowded a great deal into the time. We flew, of course, and Victoria was the only place where the flying weather was good. On leaving San Francisco we were delayed for three hours because the plane could not leave the ground at all in Portland. Finally they put on a special plane and we made our Mexico City connection in Los Angeles only because they waited for us. Even flying over Mexico it was foggy and rough."

"We were met and greeted by the hosts of the Fifth International Hotel Congress which, for the first time in its history, is being held on this continent. It is not nearly so large a gathering as usual because so many of the European members were unable to come, and instead of having between 800 and 900 here, we have only about 400. However, it is just as colorful as usual and our Mexican friends are doing everything in their power to make us happy."

"Most of us arrived on Sunday and spent the rest of the day greeting old friends from many countries. On Monday morning we went in a body to lay a wreath on the Independence Monument, and from there we drove to the floating gardens of Xochimilco, 18 miles away."

"These are the things all tourists do, and those of us who have been here before had already seen it, but we did enjoy again, floating gently down the stream, surrounded by barges overflowing with flowers and listening to the Mexican music which is always delightful."

"The weather is perfect, very warm bright days and cool evenings; meals are very good and the main hotels, where most of us are lucky enough to be quartered, excellent."

OPENING CEREMONY

"On Tuesday the Congress was officially opened by Miguel Altman, President of Mexico. "It was a colorful ceremony held in the Palace of Fine Arts. Like all Mexican (or perhaps I should say Latin) affairs, it was not ready on time, after we were all gathered in our appointed places and our officers were trying to conduct a short preliminary meeting before the big event, all sorts of preparations were going on in front of us on the stage. Dozens of men rushed back and forth around our officers, making electrical connections, testing out loud speakers, spot lights. It was, for all the world, like a comic opera, and then, suddenly and surprisingly, everything was ready just in time and a burst of music announced the arrival of the great man and his party."

"To the sound of cheering and clapping he walked up the aisle and took his place in the centre of the stage. On either side of him sat one of his special men and behind them stood three uniformed (and no doubt, armed) guards. To the left and right of the president's party were important officers of the International Hotel Association, and in a semi-circle on either side of the stage were delegates representing each of the different countries in the association. The rest of us ordinary mortals were seated in the body of the theatre and enjoyed the affair very much indeed.

"One of the most surprising things to me was the number of photographers right on the stage. I counted 35 and there may have been even more. As each speaker was announced and took his place before the microphone, these men rushed in a body towards him, then crouching, stretching, twisting and turning, they flashed and snapped to their hearts' content."

"After this official opening we were taken to the Pyramids, 30 miles from the city, and were given lunch in a unique dining-room set up in a natural cave. In the evening we were entertained at one of Mexico City's best night clubs, where the floor show and the food were excellent."

"We have been by car to Taxco, the silver-mining centre, high in the mountains, 100 miles from Mexico City. The scenery is beautiful, particularly in the city of Cuernavaca, and in the little town of Taxco itself, with the wonderful old cathedrals."

"It is 10 years since I was in Mexico and I find it greatly improved. The people look happy and healthy and they do not follow tourists around as they once did, urging them to buy or to give. There is much new building going on and, evidently, very little unemployment—at least compared with conditions of a few years ago."

"Their new International University, under construction, is the biggest thing of its kind I've ever seen. We saw it as we drove out this morning and again by electric light tonight, as they have huge shifts of men working around the clock."

Mona Rickaby Thrilled With Life In New Zealand

Victorians welcomed back a friend this week with return of Miss Mona Rickaby, who has been living in New Zealand for the past three years and previous to that was in eastern Canada and the States.

"It's wonderful to be back," she says, "but it was hard to leave all my friends in New Zealand."

"Now, before I say anything about that wonderful land, I must mention 'Canadian House,' the apartment I shared in Wellington with Miss Mardie Peden, whose parents live in this city, and Lorne Bertel, Kitchener, Ont.

"It was a glorious little home. But do you know what? We had to climb up 71 steps to it. The view from our window looked over Evan's Bay, the harbor, and included the distant mountains."

Miss Rickaby also tells about the constantly changing scene in the bay. Large ships were continuously passing just below them and seaplanes which commuted between Wellington and Sydney were frequently making spectacular landings or taking off.

"That scene is one of the things I will miss most," she said nostalgically.

Unfortunately Miss Rickaby's position as private secretary and chief clerical officer to Alfred Rive, Canadian High Commissioner, did not leave much time for gazing across the bay.

"My hours were terrific," she exclaimed. "There was always something to attend to and not always at convenient times. I must admit that I loved it, though."

One of the outstanding things Miss Rickaby realized while away from this country was what Canada had to offer.

"We really don't appreciate what we have right at our fingertips," she said. "Canned goods, for instance. We take them for granted almost as much as anything else. In fact, there are times when we grumble because we have to use them."

"Australia has a popular line of canned produce, but not as wide a variety as Canada," she said. "In many cases they are just a substitute."

"The people themselves are very interesting. They take you into their homes — and their hearts," she tells you. "As there is not much entertaining by professional companies 'down under' they provide it themselves and as a result have produced some very fine artists."

Miss Rickaby was impressed with eagerness of the women to adopt new ways. If they noticed her doing a job or preparing a meal in a different way to theirs they were quick to question and try it themselves.

"Some of my friends advanced tremendously in the short time I was there. At first they were horrified at the thought of a salad. Now it takes its place on the table at mealtime," she said.

Miss Rickaby remarked on the excellent transportation system they have. "Their buses are huge and I heard that they were assembled in Australia. As New Zealand is small their roads are in perfect condition."

Women take quite an interest in fashion, Miss Rickaby mentioned, and if they can't find an advanced model ensemble in their stores they send away for patterns and make it themselves.

Of course, Miss Rickaby did the usual amount of sightseeing and remarked that she was particularly thrilled with the South Island as it was very much like British Columbia with its mountains.

Now — with these memories, Miss Rickaby is planning to holiday for a while in her "home town."

Executive members are Dr. H. R. Anderson, Mrs. H. Beckwith and Mrs. C. D. Hobson.

In reviewing the past year, Miss MacNab spoke of the close link formed with the existing nursery school on Oak Bay Avenue and preparation by a joint planning committee of a course of lectures for parents of the school and a brochure setting forth the history and future aims of the nursery school.

A short question and answer summary on meaning of nursery school will be given by the Parent-Teacher Council Dec. 15.

Out-of-town guests at the recent wedding of Miss Anna Marie Alder and Mr. John Lewis Davis were Mrs. S. Davies, New Westminster; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Davis, Leroy, Sask., and Mr. D. Armstrong, Quill Lake, Sask.

Members of Garden City Horsemen's Club recently held a dinner dance at The Ranch on Marine Drive. Table decorations were arranged in the Christmas motif with holly and bonbons. Accordion solos were enjoyed and many spot dances arranged.

Among those present were Capt. and Mrs. J. D. Prentice, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Oliver, Dr. and Mrs. W. Westwood, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. "Wally" Williams, Mr. and Mrs. G. Aitken, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Whitworth, Mr. and Mrs. E. Warburton.

Anna Alder Married In Ceremony at Baptist Church

Attendants in gowns of soft pink and yellow offered a complementing contrast to the pale blue French lace gown worn by Anna Marie Alder when she became the bride of John Lewis Davis at a ceremony in Douglas Street Baptist Church recently. Rev. J. C. A. Barton officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Alder, 838 Seymour Avenue, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Davis, Le Roy, Sask.

White chrysanthemums decorated the church and G. Pepper played traditional music as the bride walked up the aisle on the arm of her father, Alex Hall, during the signing of the register.

The bride's gown was fashioned with a ballerina-length skirt and strapless bodice. A long-sleeved jacket with Mandarin collar topped the fitted bodice. A small pale blue feathered hat held a short veil and she complemented her gown with a cameo brooch belonging to her grandmother. She carried a white Bible topped with a gardenia.

Miss Jean Alder, sister of the bride, wore a dusty pink gown styled with lace bodice and net skirt over taffeta. She carried a colonial bouquet of chrysanthemums in tones of pink.

Junior bridesmaid Jean Hilsden, cousin of the bride, chose pale yellow taffeta and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

David Alder, brother of the bride, was best man and ushers were A. D. Brownsey and William Barker.

Pink and white decorations were predominate for the reception in the Strathcona Hotel. A three-tier cake centred the table. T. Brydon, uncle of the groom, proposed the toast.

For her honeymoon Up-Island, the bride wore a mint-green wool dress complemented with wintered accessories and a muskrat coat.

The newlyweds will live at Lac Vert, Sask.

Recital of chamber music, direction of Miss Dorothy Francis, Friday at 7.30, Newstead Hall, 734 Fort Street. Collection for Queen Alexandra Solarium. . . . St. Saviour's fourth annual fall and winter fair, parish hall, Friday at 2.

IN THE WITH THE TIMES

"Met" in 1946 and at the Paris Opera in 1949. The story of "Manon" is based on the romantic 18th-century novel "L'Histoire de Manon Lescaut" by Abbé Prevost—a story which has appealed to many composers, probably the most famous of whom being Massenet and Puccini. Tonight's production from Plateau Hall in Montreal, will be directed by Jean Baudet, whose training in Paris as a Prix d'Europe winner and his many subsequent trips to the continent have given him a special interest in the French repertoire. Miss Alarie will be supported in her role by tenor Jacques Gerard, baritone Lionel Daunais and David Rochette, bass, backed by a 44-voice choir and orchestra of 50 musicians. Broadcast time of the two-and-a-half-hour production is 7.30 on CBR.

TONIGHT ALSO... Red Skelton at 6 on KIRO, followed at 6.30 by the "Bing Crosby Show." Next, the "Great Gildersleeve" at 7 on CJOJ (also at 8.30 on KOMO). At 7.30 "Hollywood Stars on Stage" on both CJOJ and CJVI. "M-G-M Theatre" at 8.30 on CKWV. "Mang the Heather" at 9 on CJVI or the "Treasure Chest" at 9.05 on CKDA. "Musical Magazine" at 11.15 on CBR.

Clippers Clip Vernon Six; Flyers Win

All the goals scored last night by the high-calibre Nanaimo Clippers were fired from two barrels, Bob Rowledge and line-mate Gordie Miller. With Rowledge connecting for a hat trick, and Miller adding the other two goals, Clippers clipped Vernon Canadians 5-3 in an inter-sectional senior hockey clash at Nanaimo.

And Rowledge is just a spark, filling in for the injured Jack O'Hara in recent games. Spokane Flyers continued their mastery over Nelson Maple Leafs in the Western International League. They pounded Leafs 4-1 for their fifth victory in six starts against Nelson this year. The other game ended in a tie. Lorne Nadeau paced Spokane's attack with two goals, while Gino Rozzini and Carl Clullo added singletons.

BEDTIME STORY

by Thornton W. Burgess

It is disagreement that sharpens wits. Disagreement arises from the fact that everybody is at least a little different from everybody else. It is disagreement that makes folks think, and from it very often springs some of the very best things of life.

The Mouse family is a very big family. Members of it are found all around the Great World. Ever since he first started out in the Great World, Peter Rabbit has known several members of this big family. When he has been over in Farmer Brown's barnyard at night, he has met Nibbler the Housemouse who lives in Farmer Brown's barn, and sometimes visits Farmer Brown's house. On the Green Meadows live Danny and Nanny Meadowmouse. They have even lived in the dear old Briar Patch. And there is one other whom Peter has met, but does not know as well as he knows some of the others. This is Nimbleheels the Jumping Mouse, who also lives on the Green Meadows or sometimes along the edge of the Green Forest.

Peter was reminded of Nimbleheels when he met Danny Meadowmouse just outside the dear old Briar Patch. He hadn't seen Nimbleheels since early in the fall, and it was now the edge of winter. "Where is your cousin Nimbleheels?" he asked Danny Meadowmouse.

"How should I know?" squeaked Danny. "I haven't seen him since last summer. Probably he is asleep. I don't understand Cousin Nimbleheels."

"What is it you don't understand?" asked Peter wonderingly. "I don't understand why he is so different from the rest of the family," replied Danny in his high squeaky voice.

"Is he?" asked Peter.

"He certainly is," squeaked Danny.

"Do you mean in the way he can jump?" Peter wanted to know.

"No," squeaked Danny. "Of course he is the best jumper in the family, but there are some others who are pretty good jumpers. No, it isn't his jumping that makes him different; it is the way he sleeps."

Peter's eyes opened a little wider. "Does he sleep any different from the rest of you?" he asked.

"I should say he does," squeaked Danny. "The rest of us sleep like other folks, for a little while when we are sleepy. We take naps just as you do. But not Cousin Nimbleheels. No, sir, not Cousin Nimbleheels. He is like Johnny Chuck."

Peter blinked. "What do you mean like Johnny Chuck?" he asked.

"He sleeps all winter," squeaked Danny. "How he does it and why he does it, I don't know. He is the only member of the family that does it. He is the only one who can. So you see he is different from the rest of us. He is one of the longest sleepers I know of."

Fewer Market Problems For Farmers Seen

OTTAWA, Dec. 5 (CP)—

Canada's farmers won't have too many marketing worries next year if predictions made at the first day of the 10th annual federal-provincial agricultural conference hold true.

J. F. Booth, the federal agriculture department's chief economist, Tuesday told the conference he assumes Canada and the United States will boost rearmament production next year. World economic activity will remain "at very high levels," he said.

Other agricultural experts predicted a resulting heavy demand for Canadian farm products—with only a few exceptions—and "firm" prices for such foods as wheat, beef, eggs, milk, and other dairy products.

The 100-odd delegates were told milk production in 1952 is not expected to be sufficient to meet demand. Beef prices likely will be about the same as in the United States but hog prices may come down as a result of increased production.

Egg production is expected to increase but demand also will be strong. Butter production may be down and it would seem therefore that prices should remain firm. World demand for wheat is expected to remain strong.

Land Bought For Pennies Now Limitless In Wealth

Alaska, climatically and otherwise, is "the most misunderstood country in the world."

At Col. Joseph Acton, retired Salvation Army officer, held Kiwanis Club members entranced at their weekly luncheon Tuesday at the Empress Hotel.

Col. Acton, who spent six years in Alaska, said two-thirds of Alaska, which is one-fifth the size of the United States, is in the temperate zone. He told of the phenomenal size of root crops in the southern areas, and recounted the tremendous fish and mineral resources of the territory.

"Alaska, which will possibly be the 49th state in the U.S., has only 100,000 population and potentially is able to support millions," he added. "Russia sold Alaska to the U.S. for $7,000,000, or a cost of about two cents an acre. Now its value cannot even be estimated."

Col. Acton exhibited old Alaska Indian relics, including mats, rope, beadwork, spoons, masks and baskets. He donned the raiment of an Indian medicine man and sang a "healing song" to the beat of a drum.

J. P. Hardy was chairman of the meeting.

It was announced that arrangements have been completed for the inter-club meeting with the Oak Bay Club Thursday night.

R.C.N. Korean Effort Lauded

By ROY THORSEN
Men of Canada's fighting ships in the Far East richly deserve commendation and admiration for their fine part in the Korean war at sea.

Those people who think a sailor's life in an action theatre is an "easy go" are "off course."

This is graphically shown in a letter Petty Officer Marc Lavole wrote to his wife, Gerry, who is temporarily staying with relatives with her three children in Kent, Wash. Their Victoria address is 1151 May.

Marc is a medical attendant on board H.M.C.S. Athabaskan. He says:

"We bombarded the North Korean coast this afternoon (Nov. 5) for one hour. Will do the same tomorrow morning. No answering fire. It's getting late, so I think I'll say good night. Pleasant dreams and I'll write some more tomorrow."

"Nov. 10—Well, I'm back again. It has been a pretty long time since I said I would continue the letter... but I've been very busy and could not find the time to write."

"We have been bombarding since Tuesday and more than half the time at action stations or on the alert. I only had a half hour's sleep Tuesday."

"At 2 Wednesday morning (Nov. 7) we picked up 48 South Koreans. Thirty-eight were wounded, 35 requiring immediate surgery. We worked on them for 15 hours until Inchon was reached."

"We had one woman with second and third degree burns covering half her body. We worked over her for four and a half hours, also removing a piece of shrapnel. All had been wounded over 24 hours. Gangrene had infected wounds."

"On reaching Inchon we got a 10-minute break, followed by supper. Then I had a lot of cleaning and straightening up to do. Did not finish until midnight."

"Couldn't write Thursday. We were doing some more bombarding and preparing for emergencies. The doc (Surg.-Lt. C. A. West, Toronto) and I ordered ashore Friday on a friendly island to take off an American flier who had bailed out before his plane crashed. He broke a foot... and later we went ashore to look after two guerrillas injured by shrapnel. Got back aboard ship at 6:15. Didn't get to bed until 3."

"I managed to get two hours sleep. Then today we were back at bombarding. I have succeeded in getting a little time out to finish this."

Yesterday the captain (Comdr. Dudley G. King, Victoria) thanked us for the work we had done this week. He asked for a full report from the doctor for all the medical work that had been done.

"We are at sea for another two weeks before heading for harbor. I guess then it will be a pretty busy period as my supplies have been taxed heavily tending to the wounded."

"From the 14th on we will be with a carrier with no bombardment duties and therefore will be able to relax a bit."

"Right now we are shelling the coast again. A warehouse went up."

The Athabaskan, with 300 men aboard, joined with three other United Nations warships last Friday in rescuing 300 to 400 South Koreans who had been driven from an island near the Yalu River. Heavy fire from the ships kept the Reds at bay while the soldiers were being evacuated. There was no report of injuries aboard the Canadian vessel.

Charge Hospital Employees Fired For Union Efforts

NORTH VANCOUVER, Dec. 15 (CP).—Hospital Employees' Federal Union, Local 180 (T.L.C.) has charged the North Vancouver General Hospital with laying off workers for "union activity."

Announcement of the layoffs was made Tuesday by hospital administrator John Bragg and chairman of the board of directors, J. B. Payne.

Twenty employees have been laid off since October, they said, and more dismissals are pending. They were laid off for economy reasons, they said.

W. M. Black, business agent of the union, said some of the workers were fired during wage negotiations and alleged the reason was "union activity."

He said he would go to a board of arbitration over the firing of three orderlies to "smoke the whistle thing out."

Bragg said it was "pure nonsense" that the workers were fired for union activity.

ENLIVENED COURTS

Last of the "private fools" or court jesters was Dicky Pierce, who died in 1728 after being long attached to Lord Suffolk's household.

10 Villages Believed Destroyed On Camiguin Island; Report 10,000 Residents Evacuated

MANILA, Dec. 5 (AP).—The Philippine News Service said tonight more than 500 bodies have been recovered from the ash-strewn slopes of Hibok Hibok volcano on Camiguin Island in the southern Philippines.

The volcano erupted twice Tuesday. It still spouted smoke and flames today.

Governor Paciano Ysalina of eastern Misamis province estimated that 2,000 may have died in Tuesday's first eruption.

Neither the governor's estimate nor the news service's figure had confirmation. Red Cross headquarters in Manila said the Philippines army had recovered 169 bodies.

Volcanic heat began subsiding and rescue workers were able to penetrate deeper into the ash and lava area.

The news service said 10,000 of Camiguin's 45,000 residents had been evacuated to safer areas.

Police and volunteers stood guard in the hard-hit area to maintain order and prevent looting.

Manila Times correspondent Benigno Aquino quoted Philippine Air Force Captain Pedro Los Banos that smoke was still rising from fissures and grey soil in a nine-square-mile area on the volcano slopes.

"Coconut trees still are neatly spaced in the area," the officer was quoted, "but denuded of fruit and leaves."

Hibok Hibok's crater was still invisible last Wednesday, shrouded by low, dense clouds of smoke. The volcano issued a second mighty blast Monday night, about 10 hours after the first blow-off.

Flames and dense smoke still are pouring from the crater, the Philippines army commander in the Mindanao area reported after a flight over the island.

A steady stream of evacuees fled in all types of watercraft to Mindanao and other nearby islands.

Ten villages on the island were believed destroyed.

Kill British Egypt Orders

Government Tells Police To Fire At U.K. Vehicles Entering Suez

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 5 (UP).—The Egyptian government has ordered police to "shoot on sight" any British army vehicle which tries to enter Suez in the canal zone, press reports said today.

The report came in an atmosphere tense after two days of British-Egyptian gun battles and riots here and elsewhere in which more than 170 persons were killed or injured.

Press reports said that Egyptian authorities at Suez warned the British command that any British vehicle or soldier that entered the city would "inevitably be fired upon."

Egyptian authorities have rejected British requests to enter the town and every policeman has been given 300 rounds of ammunition in event of a new clash, the press reports said.

Rioting by Egyptians in Cairo broke out again today.

A police charge in the Sayeda Teinab quarter dispersed 3,000 students and workers who had staged an anti-British demonstration. The rioters stoned the police as they charged, swinging their staves freely.

WORKERS IN THE BOUTLE

Workers in the Boutle section of Cairo also clashed with police and attacked a Coca Cola truck. Cases and bottles were smashed and strewn along the Foad El-Awal road following the fight. Strong reinforcements rushed into the workers' residential area broke up the riot.

Police headquarters said several policemen were injured by stones which 1,000 rioters threw in the Boutle clash. The police dispersed the rioters by firing rifle volleys over their heads.

In Alexandria 2,000 students and workers demonstrated throughout the port city. They shouted anti-British, anti-government slogans and demanded "arms" and "revenge."

Insurance 'New Deal' Wins 2,000

The new deal offered hospital insurance delinquents and non-registrants resulted in only another 2,000 persons being brought into the scheme.

Health and Welfare Minister A. D. Turnbull said today 862 persons registered. Figuring that each registrant represents 2.25 persons, the plan attracted a total of 2,000 persons.

There are still 50,000 British Columbians not registered, but half of these come under the category of "not able to pay."

The offer, a recommendation of the hospital insurance inquiry board, enabled delinquent to become eligible for coverage after paying one full year's premiums and agreeing to pay arrears in installments over a specified period.

The results of the plan will bring in about $100,000 in revenue to the B.C.H.I.S. coffers. Sum of $34,000 was received in actual cash and from persons taking advantage of the offer.

Challenge By Harrison 'Screw,' Kent Scoffs

Mayorality candidate C. L. Harrison has issued a challenge. But it got no takers.

It is a challenge to two of his three opponents for the office of chief magistrate and involves a $3,000 jackpot and all the next mayor's wages.

Primarily, Harrison's "dare" is to stimulate the fight for Victoria's rights under the terms of B.C.'s union with the other provinces of Canada, he told a meeting of the Firemen's Union Tuesday night.

Incidentally, it is designed to prove his own good faith in his claim against the federal government for a steamship line between Victoria and American ports or cash compensation which might amount to millions, he said.

"It has been inferred that I am not sincere and that I am dangling a gold brick in seeking our rights under the terms of union," Harrison said.

"As far as I'm concerned," commented M. Aubrey Kent, "the whole proposition is screwy."

"I've nothing to say," Dr. J. D. Hunter said. "I haven't had time to consider the matter."

Briefly, this is Harrison's offer: 1. Each mayorality candidate must execute a deed assigning all his pay to a trustee.

2. Each of three candidates—Harrison, Dr. Hunter and Kent—would put up $1,000 of his own money, also to be paid to the trustee.

Neutral Nations Chosen

Reds Advance Step In Cease-Fire Talks

PANMUNJON, Korea, Dec. 5 (UP).—The Communists suggested two Communist and two non-Communist countries today to supply "neutral observers" for a Korean armistice.

Red representatives told U.N. delegates in a subcommittee meeting that observers from Sweden, Switzerland and Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia would be acceptable to them.

The Communists said there would be "no boss" of the inspection group "except the terms of the armistice itself," U.N. briefing officer Lt. Col. Howard S. Levie reported.

FEW RED ANSWERS

The naming by the Communists of four nations acceptable to them as "neutrals" was one of the few positive developments in a day of many U.N. questions and few Communist answers.

The Communists had suggested that observers from neutral states visit "ports of entry" behind both lines to see that neither side brought in fresh troops or supplies during an armistice.

Until today, however, the Reds had refused to name the countries they considered "neutral" and thereby eligible to supply observers. There seemed some question whether the U.N. would accept their Communist Poland or Czechoslovakia as truly "neutral" in the Korean war.

The Communists still refused to clarify what they mean by "ports of entry"—whether these would include airports and North Korea's rail crossings into Manchuria and Siberia in addition to North Korean seaports.

Way Is Open For Buttle Dam Appeal

The provincial government Tuesday served notice of an appeal against the decision to dam Buttle Lake.

E. H. Tredercroft, water rights controller, was given notice. Education Minister W. T. Strath, acting attorney-general, said today.

The comptroller is expected to turn the appeal over to Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney on his return from the interior of the province at the end of the week. Kenney will set the date and location for the hearings.

The government appealed the decision only to allow the conservationists and others to be heard further. If the government had not taken this action, the Water Act would have prevented most of the conservationists from being heard.

Negotiations Continue Before Labor Board

Operators and union representatives were reported unofficially today to be close to ending British Columbia's beer drought.

Hopes for an early settlement of the strike of 431 brewery workers—which started its seventh week today—bubbled following negotiations at Vancouver Tuesday night presided over by the provincial Labor Relations Board.

Another negotiating conference was called for tonight, and some sources said there was a good chance that beer may be flowing again by Saturday.

Beer parlors began to close a few days after the strike started Oct. 23, throwing an estimated 1,500 beer parlor employees out of work.

The International Union of Brewery and Distillery Workers (C.C.L.) called the strike at four breweries in Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster after the companies rejected demands for a 35-cent hourly increase over the current basic wage of $1.31. The meeting Tuesday night followed a union request to Labor Minister John Cates for mediation in the strike. The only official word following the 1 1/2-hour meeting was a joint announcement that "negotiations are proceeding."

Wounded Toronto Police Constable Slays Hoodlum

TORONTO, Dec. 5 (CP).—A

bandit who had stolen $210 was shot and killed Tuesday night with his own gun after it was wrested from him by a steel-nerved police officer.

Because of a recent wave of drugstore hold-ups, Constable Dick Deadman, veteran of 25 years' service on the police force, had been assigned to guard the Fox-Taylor drugstore at Dundas and McCaul Streets. Other plainclothesmen were stationed in other drugstores in the area.

The two hold-up men entered the store just before the 9 p.m. closing time, forced proprietor Joseph Fox to open the cash register, then motioned him to go to the back of the store. Fox walked back and signalled to Deadman, who stepped out with drawn gun.

The startled gunman wheeled and fired twice point-blank. One slug from his German automatic ripped into the officer's shoulder and the other struck his leg. The policeman returned the fire.

Deadman then put his own gun back in his pocket and moved in on the bandit who fired again, hitting him in the other leg. Still on his feet, the officer grasped the bandit's right arm, twisted the automatic away from him and fired. The hold-up man fell, mortally wounded.
